Disturbance Subsides

Tidal Disaster May Have Cost 176 Lives

By DON WHITEHEAD

HONOLULU, April 3.—(AP)—The multi-million dollar debris of seismic wave-ravaged Hilo yielded seven more bodies today as weary volunteers, spurred by a threat of contagion, continued their unceasing search.

THE EARTHQUAKE-BORN disturbance—now completely subsided—took possibly 176 lives as it pounded shores from the Aleutians to Hawaii, to California and to Peru.

To the territorial toll of 79 dead and 85 missing were added 10 presumed deaths in the Aleutians and one each in California and Peru.

An estimated 4,000 Hawaiians were homeless.

THE UNITED STATES navy's Alaska sea frontier command at Kodiak last night said no further effect or recurrence of the wave was expected, criticizing in the same statement "groundless, panic-breeding rumor, widely disseminated with such harmful effect both

Iran Makes Offer Shelve Its Case

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

NEW YORK, April 3.—(CP)—Iran offered today to let the United Nations Security Council shelve the Iranian case temporarily provided Russia would give assurances that Russian troops would be withdrawn from the country unconditionally by May 6.

THE COUNCIL, having received last-minute replies from both Russia and Iran to its inquiries of Friday on the state of negotiations between them, then adjourned until 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Russia said troop withdrawals from Iran were not conditional on other negotiations with Iran over such matters as oil.

Troops will be out of the country within a month and a half, the council was informed in the message from Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, who, however, continued his boycott of the Iranian discussion by not attending the meeting.

IRAN, IN A LETTER from Ambassador Hussein Ala, advised that negotiations with Russia, in accord with a council decision at London, had failed, that Russian interference in Iranian affairs had con-

Veteran Awaits Verdict of Board

WINNIPEG, April 3—(CP) — A veteran of the Canadian Army, who served six years overseas, Daniel N. McCloy, 44, of Winnipeg, and second generation Canadian, today awaits the verdict of an immigration board of inquiry on a 16-year-old charge of desertion from the American Army.

THE BOARD, headed by R. N. Munroe, district superintendent of immigration, on the case, adjourned indefinitely on an undertaking from McCloy that he would appear at the sitting.

Experimental Unit For Namao Field

Winter experimental unit of the RCAF and RAF that has operated at the Edmonton airport area this past winter, will shortly be moved to Namao Field, eight miles north of the city, it was learned Wednesday.

THE EXPERIMENTAL UNIT, which has had tests of practically every type of RCAF and RAF combat, bomber and transport planes for the past few months, will move all operations to the north field.

Lack of cold weather has seriously handicapped tests of aircraft, including the Gloster jet-propelled planes there here, but preparations are already being made for next winter's operations when official hope there will be more cold weather.

Germans Ask Entry In Commonwealth

HERFORD, Germany, April 3—(Reuters)—Germans in the Rhineland have formed a party which seeks dominion status within the British Commonwealth for the region, and whose membership has steadily increased since recent food ration cuts, German sources said last night. The mayor of Cologne and the editor of a social democrat newspaper are said to be leading figures in the "Dominion Free Party of the Rhineland."

U.S. Starts New Grain Sale Plan

WASHINGTON, April 3—(AP)—The government has offered to buy grain from farmers and allow them the price prevailing on any future date they may select up to April 1, 1947.

Thus sales made now under this program would give a farmer a price higher than that prevailing at present, providing the market price on the date he selected to collect is above existing levels.

WHEAT NOW is selling at or near the ceiling, or at a national average price of about $1.58 a bushel.

But should the market price on the date he selected be lower than now, the farmer would get the lower price, and consequently be worse off financially than if he took present prices.

Molotov Discusses Canadian Premier

TEHRAN, April 3—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada was the subject of a conversation between V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, and the Iranian Prime Minister, Ahmed Qavam, during the latter's visit to Moscow, it was learned from a report published here Tuesday.

THE CONVERSATION took place at a cocktail party and wound up with M. Molotov slapping Premier Qavam on the back.

The report of the conversation, which was said to come from a member of Qavam's mission, quoted Molotov as follows:

"We understand Persia. We know you want to go forward along the road to progress. Perhaps Mackenzie King does not agree with that.

(Presumably this was a reference to the Canadian espionage case).

"AFTER A SECOND World War small countries want independence. Mackenzie King has come to the rescue of Bevin (British foreign secretary). But the USSR understands the world's problems better than Mackenzie King and his friends. We are ready to help you."

In War Trials Testimony

International Law Violation Is Freely Admitted By Keitel

By NOLAND NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, April 3.—(AP)—Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel frankly testified today that many orders issued under his name "represented deviations from existing international law" and that it was his duty "to take responsibility for what I have done, even if it has been wrong."

THE FORMER CHIEF of the German high command, one of 22 leading Germans on trial as war criminals, told the international military tribunal:

"I am grateful to have the opportunity here and before the German people to give an account of those things. For all officers subordinate to me, I assume responsibility insofar as it is based on moral and legal principles."

From the time Col-Gen. Werner von Blomberg resigned as chief of the army in 1938, "there was only one commander-in-chief—Hitler himself," Keitel testified.

Set New Priority For Repatriation

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—Defence headquarters today announced a new priority rating for the repatriation of Canadian soldiers overseas who are eligible to attend educational courses, including summer courses, at Canadian universities.

An announcement said the new arrangement followed the closing of Khaki University at Leaveaden, near London, which had provided facilities for higher education overseas.

TO OBTAIN THE priority a soldier must furnish his commanding officer with satisfactory proof that he will be accepted by a recognized educational institution in Canada. If approved the soldier would be returned to Canada in time to begin his studies.

Shirt Price Raise Has Little Effect

TORONTO, April 3. — (CP) — Shirt manufacturers in Toronto yesterday expressed doubt that higher prices permitted by the Prices Board would make more shirts available. The labor situation remains bad and the lack of materials worse, they said. "With all the boys coming back from overseas, there is a terrific demand, and we haven't been getting any material from England and very little has come from the United States where it is also in short supply," said one of Toronto's largest shirt makers.

OTTAWA, April 3 — (CP) — The Prices Board reported last night on the basis of a Dominion-wide survey that "no significant changes and no unexpected increases" have taken place in retail prices of goods and services suspended from price ceilings Feb. 1.

ONLY MONDAY appointed Canadian representative on the United Nations Organization's atomic energy commission, General McNaughton stayed overnight in Edmonton on an aerial trip to Whitehorse to attend the ceremony in connection with the passing to the Canadian Army control of the Alaska Military Highway.

Fred Rose Trial Set For April 13

MONTREAL, April 3—(CP)—The trial of Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier, has been tentatively set for April 13, it was learned at the crown office today. This would mean that the spring assizes, due to open at the beginning of May, would be advanced almost a month. Rose, charged with violation of the Official Secrets Act by giving information to Russia and with conspiracy, is free on $25,000 bail, pending trial in the Court of King's Bench.

MONTREAL, April 3. — (CP) — Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive member of Parliament for Montreal Cartier, awaiting trial on charges under the Official Secrets Act, said yesterday he is busy with his law years now and that "as soon as I see what's what" he would decide when he will take his seat in the House of Commons.

Given $500 Fine For Tax Evasion

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—Edward Mount Chinneli, 53, of Ottawa, was fined $500 and costs when he pleaded guilty in magistrate's court yesterday to a breach of the Income Tax Act. Revenue department officials said that in 1943 Chinneli had filed his return three months late and had shown his 1942 income as $2,500. Investigation showed his actual income at "close to $14,000."

Dangerous Driver Gets Year in Jail

Walter Wocasek, Stony Plain district resident, found guilty in supreme court Tuesday by Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd on a charge of dangerous driving, was sentenced to serve one year in Fort Saskatchewan jail. He was found not guilty on a manslaughter charge.

THE CHARGES against the accused arose out of an accident on the Jasper highway on Dec. 31 last in which Mrs. Margaret Holm, Stony Plain, received injuries from which she died.

Neil D. Maclean, KC, counsel for Wocasek, immediately after the court's decision applied for bail on behalf of his client and intimated he would appeal both conviction and sentence.

ACCORDING TO evidence given at the trial the accused struck Mrs. Holm when he failed to stop his truck when signalled by the automobile owner who had stopped to assist another autoist who had gone into the ditch. Witnesses stated that the accused approached from Edmonton at a fast speed, and struck the door of a parked car, and then hit Mrs. Holm who suffered multiple injuries, including a fracture of the spinal column.

Council Votes 8 to 1 Against Any Change

City council at a special meeting Tuesday set the mill rate for 1946 at 49½ mills, the same rate that has been in effect for the last three years.

THERE WAS LITTLE discussion on the motion to set the rate at 49½ mills, and when put to the vote it was carried by an eight-to-one majority. Ald. J. M. Douglas, who had moved that a 49 mill rate be struck was the dissenting vote.

Council concurred in the recommendation of the commissioners that a mill rate of 35 mills be established on outer zone property on holdings up to eight acres, and that the rate apply to holdings over eight acres where the property is not used for agricultural or horticultural purposes. Revenue from this increase in mill rate will be $31,196.

The council also voted for an increase from six to 10 cents in the frontage assessment an lateral sewer installations. This increase will bring in additional revenue amounting to $53,000.

IT WAS AGREED that the request of the library board for an additional $9,000 be granted. This revenue, according to Ald. A. Bis-

Rumors that the provincial government contract to a Seattle firm for clearing and breaking 100,000 acres of land in the Peace River district for war veteran settlement is being abandoned are entirely without foundation, Julian Bair, representative of the U.S. firm stated here Wednesday.

"THERE IS NEITHER foundation nor truth in these rumors and we will be working on the land as soon as physical conditions permit," Mr. Bair told a representative of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Mr. Bair said he last inspected the land early in February and found snow conditions such that it would have been impossible to accomplish any appreciable amount of work at that time.

Mr. Bair later became ill and went to hospital for treatment. He was

Pressing Question

Export Price of Wheat Discussed

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 3.—Whether the export price of wheat should remain for the current crop season at $1.55 per bushel No. 1 Port William, or be raised intermediate between that and the Chicago market price continues to be a most pressing question before the cabinet. Aligned against such a proposed increase, and also against a proposal to boost the domestic price from $1.25 to $1.35 are reported to be the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and the department of finance.

ARGUING IN favor of it are reported to be Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, backed by strong wheat growery sentiment in the west. While the Canadian federation of agriculture in its official brief to the cabinet asked only an "adjustment" of the domestic price to the export price, it is under-

A trace of "fine" rain, lasting from 4:10 a.m. to 7:12 a.m. Wednesday was "rehabilitating" dusty streets in the Edmonton district. It was the second rainfall and first April shower of the season, the first having been recorded by the Dominion public weather office here March 23.

City Council Decision

To Cut Electric Light Rate In Edmonton Starting May 1

Effective May 1 next domestic and commercial electric light rates will be reduced, and the reduction in rates approved Tuesday by city council will mean a saving of approximately $186,000 to city consumers during the remainder of 1946.

IN THEIR REPORT to city council sometime ago the city commissioners stated they had been giving consideration to light rate reductions for some considerable time, and that they considered this the appropriate time to make the reductions.

They contended that through the rate reduction consumers would increase their use of light and power, and that revenue decline immediate on the reduction would be recovered within a three to five year period. Ald. J. Munro agreed with this contention of the commissioners, and said that business houses would materially increase

Harry Taylor Flyers May Get 'Peg Hockey Star

By HAL DEAN
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

WINNIPEG, April 3.—It was reported in hockey circles here today that Harry Taylor, starry centre of Winnipeg's Junior Monarchs, is considering an offer to play with Edmonton Flyers in the Western Canada Senior League next winter.

Reports going the rounds in the Manitoba capital are to the effect that he was made an offer by Coach Riley Mullen when Monarchs were in Edmonton to open the current Western junior finals against Canadians.

MULLEN certainly was displaying sound hockey acumen when he spotted Taylor as a prospective addition to the Edmonton entry.

Tuesday night here against Canadians, Taylor was the pick of the Winnipeg juniors. He scored two and assisted in two more of the five goals which got past the alert Johnny Sofiak.

Coal Negotiations Are Deadlocked

WASHINGTON, April 3—(AP)—John L. Lewis and soft coal operators rejected each other's mine safety proposals yesterday but agreed to meet again Wednesday in efforts to reach a contract ending the two-day old national strike.

AFTER THE BREAKUP of the closed meeting, attended again by Paul W. Fuller, special government mediator, both Lewis and the operators held news conferences to relate their sides of the impasse.

Lewis, head of the AFL United Mine Workers, said his safety resolutions turned down by the operators, were the miners' irreducible minimum demand in this regard.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, said Lewis was striving "to deprive management of all of its power and authority", and added: "we refuse to yield to these".

The operators voted down three Lewis resolutions which would:

1. Give the mine safety committees, made up of UMW members, authority to remove workmen from places they decide are dangerous.

2. Commit the operators to comply with safety recommendations of federal mine inspectors, now purely advisory, but make them subject to review of the director of the U.S. bureau of mines.

3. Require the operators to furnish pure water and remove unsightly sanitary facilities outside company houses.

THESE WERE offered as substitutes for two resolutions previously submitted by the operators. The operators termed the third resolution, thrown in by Lewis, a "gratuitous insult".

UNO Meeting

tinued, that Russia had made demands parallel with her troop withdrawals—but that above all Iran wants a friendly, peaceful settlement of the situation.

The letter from Ala stated on behalf of Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam that "Iran is animated by no spirit of hostility and it is our hope that a settlement will be reached."

This letter was read after M. Gromyko's had been presented to the council by Chairman Quo Tai-Chi of China.

M. GROMYKO STATED flatly that Russian troops would be withdrawn from Iran in six weeks. Their evacuation, he asserted, was not dependent on oil or other negotiations.

Ala's letter said that after the failure of the Iranian-Soviet negotiations in Moscow earlier this year, the Russians had advised that their troops were being evacuated if no unforeseen circumstances occurred.

At about the same time the Russians handed the Iranian government other memoranda dealing with oil questions and political conditions in the revolt-torn province of Azerbaijan.

THE RUSSIAN delegate said his message in reply to council inquiries of last Friday was submitted officially on behalf of his government. He submitted it through Secretary General Tyrgve Lie.

Mr. Gromyko's chair was vacant as he continued his boycott of all council discussion of the Iranian question. Russia's response nonetheless saved the council from the potential embarrassment, which many feared, that one of its strongest members might snub it by refusing to reply.

M. GROMYKO'S answer was brief. The central question of the council's inquiry was whether the withdrawal of troops was dependent on any other negotiations—in other words, is the withdrawal of troops being used as pressure to win concessions from Iran.

M. Gromyko's letter said:

"The question concerning evacuation of troops was solved by the understanding reached between the Soviet and Iranian governments. As to other questions they are not connected with withdrawal of troops."

THE EVACUATION started March 24 and would be completed in a month and a half, he reported.

In connection with the statement that removal of troops would be completed in about six weeks, M. Gromyko did not state, as Russian officials previously had done, that this might be halted if unspecified "unforeseen circumstances" should occur.

born citizen to the extraordinary procedure set out in PC 6577 is an outrageous assault on the rights of every citizen born in Canada, Mr. Newman told the board. "There is no record McCloy ever took out American citizenship papers, yet American authorities insist he be returned to the United States to stand trial."

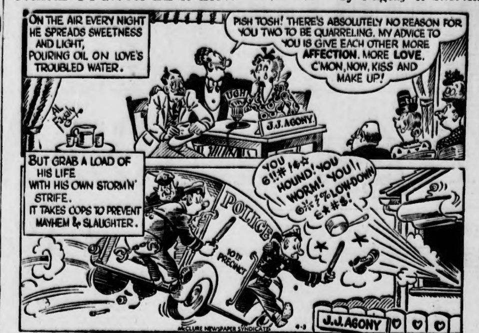

THE ORDER-IN-COUNCIL to which Mr. Newman referred was passed in October, 1945. It permits the extradition to the United States of Canadian citizens suspected of being deserters from the American armed forces.

McCloy, born in Medicine Hat, Alta., went to Chicago in 1927 and two years later enlisted in the American army, but because he "didn't like it," went absent without leave. He was arrested and deported to Canada as an alien. He returned again in 1930, was arrested and sentenced to two years. He escaped after 16 months and returned to Canada.

HE ENLISTED in the Canadian army in 1939, served overseas, was honorably discharged last August, and returned to his civilian job. He was arrested by RCMP here 10 days ago.

In the commons yesterday, Justice Minister St. Laurent told John Diefenbaker (PC Lake Centre) that McCloy was on bail pending favorable disposition of his case.

stood nevertheless that C.F.A. officials are backing the minister of agriculture in pressing for an increase of both domestic and export prices. At the moment, these interests seem to be about to carry their point.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board resistance is based on the ground that such advances inevitably mean raising price ceilings to consumers all along the line. The finance department resists on the same ground—that wheat price increases would unbalance the whole program of price control and lead to rapid inflation.

ON THE OTHER hand, wheat growers are arguing that the present ceilings on wheat tend to stymie the government's professed policy of increasing wheat production this year to meet the world food emergency. The struggle has now gone on for more than a month and wheat growers are insisting they ought to have a decision before spring planting begins.

unable to resume work until about a week ago.

IN THE MEANTIME all of the equipment coming from the United States has been cleared by Ottawa.

"I now anticipate no further delay on the project other than may be imposed by weather and ground conditions," he said.

It is the intention of Mr. Bair to work equipment 24 hours a day, seven days a week to make up for the delay. In this way it is estimated that the planned schedule of 50,000 acres for this year will be carried cut.

MR. BAIR EXPLAINED his own position further:

"I have spent over two years investigating the Peace River country and negotiating this contract with the provincial government. I have also spent considerably more than $20,000 paying the cost of the investigation.

"If for no other reason I cannot afford to drop this contract, but, apart from that consideration, I feel we are doing a worthwhile piece of work and that we are making a genuine contribution to the welfare of the returned men and to the province of Alberta.

"AS SOON AS THE project is underway my family and I are moving to land which I am buying and it is our intention to establish a permanent home in the country along with those who have been settled by the government.

prentice with the Canadian Pacific Railway in Winnipeg. He is a right-hand shot and weighs 165 pounds.

Twenty years old last Thursday, he celebrated the occasion by having a substantial share in the 5-1 win over Canadians at Edmonton. "That was the birthday present the boys gave me", said Harry when interviewed following the first period of last night's game.

TAYLOR LIKES hockey, there's no mistaking that, but he also has other plans. "I want to learn a trade" was the way he put it in explaining his attitude.

In addition to centering the most potent front-string of the Monarchs, Taylor played in the Winnipeg Commercial League all season. He was a member of the CPR team which lost out in the league play-offs to Jack Kings, the club which Edmonton Independents eliminated in the recent intermediate semi-final at Edmonton.

"I PLAYED six games in six nights", he said, in referring to one week's activities, when asked how he managed to operate with two teams.

"Last year I played only one junior game. I guess I was a little stubborn, but I wanted to play for only one club and the Monarchs just wouldn't give me a transfer to Esquires."

Right now a machinist's trade seems to hold more for Taylor than a career in hockey.

"First of all I want to be a machinist," he insisted, although he did say Hap Day's invitation to attend the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey school "does look attractive."

"If I could continue my trade at Edmonton, that would suit me nicely," said Harry when queried as to his reaction toward linking up with the Edmonton Flyers for next year.

Up to press time Coach Mullen could not be contacted for comment on the above dispatch.

Minister Protests Liquor Bill Fight

TORONTO, April 3—(CP)—Opposing a protest against the new Ontario liquor bill, Rev. D. M. Kerr of Royce avenue Presbyterian church here yesterday walked out of a meeting of Toronto Presbytery of the Presbyterian church in Canada just before a vote on the protest resolution.

The meeting adopted the protest motion after his departure.

"WE DON'T KNOW anything about the legislation," Mr. Kerr declared. "I believe it will mean a decided improvement. You should come out to my community, where bootlegging goes on day and night and the police stand by and watch it."

Later, he said he spoke his mind "and let the chips fall where they may." He contended that if the new Ontario legislation put an end to bootlegging it would have accomplished a great deal.

"I am not a drinking man, but I object to being asked to take a stand on something which will have to be worked out before any accurate opinion can be expressed."

One of Escaped Killers Re-Taken

WASHINGTON, April 3—(AP)—Joseph D. Medley, one of two convicted slayers who escaped early today from the death row of the District of Columbia jail and fled in guards' uniforms, was captured eight hours later.

The other fugitive, Earl McFarland, remained at large.

The 44-year-old Medley, implicated by police in the deaths of three red-haired women, was seized in an Anacostia river boathouse on the outskirts of Washington.

The guards were left locked in cells when the two killers escaped.

THEY LET themselves down from the roof of the three-storey jail on a rope of twisted sheets, stole a car and drove away, police said.

Medley was found guilty of killing Mrs. Nancy Boyer after a poker game in her apartment March 6, 1945. McFarland was convicted of the rape-slaying of Miss Dorothy Berrum, 18-year-old government worker, Oct. 5, 1944.

in Alaska and the continental United States."

(The Associated Press did not carry such rumors.)

Dr. Archie Orenstein, Hawaii county physician, reported last night that it might be necessary to take fingerprints of some bodies still unidentified so that they could be cremated promptly to forestall possible contagion.

TERRITORIAL Governor Ingram M. Stainback named special representatives to direct the immense task of hurrying critical items and services to ravaged areas.

Wrecked Hilo, city of 25,000 on the exposed shore of Hawaii island, reported adequate medical supplies, nurses and hospital facilities, but made hurry-up requests for food and clothing.

Topping the list was the item of 6,000 diapers, plus several hundred sets of baby clothing and hundreds of adult-size garments. Many families fled for their lives with such haste that they saved none of their belongings.

Far-reaching sea-air searches continued, and rescues of individuals and small groups washed far to sea were reported.

Two Major Changes To Vets' Land Act

OTTAWA, April 3—(CP)—Two major changes in the Veterans Land Act were approved yesterday by the veterans committee of the commons. They will be put into effect by order-in-council.

As outlined by Veterans Minister Mackenzie, they would:

1. Give the minister discretionary power to give the act's benefits to veterans of both great wars who still owe money under the Soldiers Settlement Act—its predecessor after the first great war.

2. Provide a greater measure of capital assistance for purchase of equipment and livestock and less for land and allow veterans to purchase livestock and equipment under the act for use on rented or privately-purchased land.

THE FIRST, Mr. Mackenzie said, would benefit "certain" veterans of both wars who are unreasonably excluded from the land act under which veterans are settled on farms and small holdings.

The second would be of particular help in planning for 1947. It had become necessary because of rising land prices which meant too much of the $6,000 ceiling was being eaten up for land alone. To increase that ceiling would only encourage the rise.

War Trials

Von Blomberg died last month in the Nuernberg prison.

"HITLER ISSUED orders to all three arms of the wehrmacht directly," the field marshal said. "There was no deputizing of power."

He said his real title was "chief-of-staff of the wehrmacht supreme command," and added:

"I was not a commander. I was neither able to issue orders nor act like a chief of the general staff. It was Hitler's desire to have all the powers rest with him."

He barked his testimony in the voice of a parade ground commander in tracing his military career. He said Hitler's call for him to take over the army high command in 1938 was "surprising". He denied ever belonging to the Nazi party, although he attended party rallies in Nuernberg.

HE CARRIED a heavy folder of documents and wore his field marshal's uniform.

The tribunal decided to start hearing Keitel's case while Martin Horn, counsel for Joachim von Ribbentrop completed preparations to read into the record the former German foreign minister's documentary evidence later in the day.

The tribunal announced that it had ruled out nearly half of more than 300 documents submitted by von Ribbentrop. It ruled that he could submit captured French secret files intended to show that the British and French secretly plotted to occupy the Netherlands and Belgium in 1939 as a jumping off place for an attack on the Ruhr.

IT EXCLUDED, however, similar French general staff files which von Ribbentrop contended would show similar Allied plotting in 1939 to land an expeditionary force at Salonika with the connivance of the Greeks and to bring Yugoslavia into the war on the Allied side.

Espionage Case

Kathleen Willsher, 40, deputy registrar at the United Kingdom high commissioner's office.

All three have been officially linked with alleged Soviet espionage activity.

Crown counsel disclosed that Mazerall had "admitted his part in the network in testimony before the commission.

AN EXCERPT from his evidence was read before Magistrate Glenn Strike by crown counsel J. R. Cartwright of Toronto.

The magistrate ruled admissable as evidence in his preliminary hearing the testimony Mazerall gave before the commission as well as a number of exhibits connected with that testimony. He then adjourned the case until next Tuesday to study it.

Mr. Cartwright quoted one bit of evidence given by the accused.

HE QUOTED Mazerall, former national reasearch council engineer, as saying in evidence that his "first inclination" was to deny his part in the network. Mazerall had been advised by police to admit his part and had later testified "I have done that"—admitted his part.

He had testified, too, that "I regret my part in it" and that "I have endeavored to give all the information I could" to the commission.

MAZERALL HAD testified, as well, that "the only person who gave direct evidence against me is this man Lunan, the only one I had any contact with".

Capt. David Gordon Lunan, 30, former Canadian information official, was committed for trial a short while before by the magistrate on six charges under the Secrets Act. He is the alleged head of a cell of agents said to have included Mazerall.

MR. CARTWRIGHT brought up Mazerall's statement to back up a contention that his testimony was voluntary, a contention opposed by defence counsel.

Mazerall and Lunan are the first two of 12 persons to face preliminary hearing here. The magistrate directed that Lunan face the next court of competent criminal jurisdiction on six charges unless he elects speedy trial, this will be the May assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court here.

Lunan was offered the chance of making a statement or calling witnesses but declined.

The magistrate informed Lunan yesterday he felt a prima facie case had been established against him on the basis of the 200-odd pages of evidence he gave before the Royal Commission on espionage.

HIS BAIL on six charges of violating the Official Secrets Act was cancelled by Magistrate Strike and he will have to seek new bail from a county court judge. Lunan is also charged with conspiracy but Special Crown Prosecutor Lee A. Kelley said he was not ready to proceed immediately on that count and was satisfied, so far as the conspiracy charge was concerned, to have Lunan released on his own recognizance, without bail.

Germans Made Plan For Defeat in 1939

Senator Predicts Income Tax Jump

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, predicted in the Senate last night—on the basis of government estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1947—that Canadians might undergo a 50 per cent increase in income tax in the next budget.

Although some taxes might drop, most of them would have to increase "very materially." Canada was spending a "tremendous" amount of money.

THE GOVERNMENT estimates of $2,769,349,815 were "larger than anticipated." He did not see how Canada could raise more than $2,000,000,000 which meant she would fall behind by some $769,000,000 or more than her normal outlay for a year before the war.

He spoke before the Senate gave third reading to an interim supply bill voting one-sixth of the estimates.

Butter Ration Increase Likely

By VICTOR MACKIE
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

Ottawa, April 3 — There is a 50-50 chance May 1 will see an increase in the butter ration from the present four ounces to six ounces per person per week, but farther than that, officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board would not go when asked Wednesday if the increased butter price meant an assured ration increase.

When the ration was cut from six ounces to four ounces the board described it as a "temporary" move and said it hoped to be able to restore the ration in the near future.

IF GOOD WEATHER and conditions favorable to increased milk production prevail this spring the ration will certainly be raised. The board is hoping to see butter production climb to the point where butter stocks can be built up to avoid any possibility of a cut below the six ounce level during the next winter.

In the house Tuesday Finance Minister Ilsley said the recent butter price increase was needed "if even a restricted consumer ration is to be met". Prices board officials pointed out that six ounces per person per week was a "restricted" ration.

Daylight Saving Plans Undecided

OTTAWA, April 3. — (CP) — Though clocks were advanced one hour ahead during the war by government order, the Canadian government has made no statement as to whether it will re-institute daylight saving time this summer.

However, three major Canadian cities have indicated their intention to continue the advanced-hour procedure this year. Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto have announced April 28 as the day set for clocks to be moved ahead one hour to take advantage of summer's daylight hours.

IN COUNTLESS municipalities across the dominion institution of daylight saving time still is undecided and local authorities are faced with the problem of settling the matter themselves one way or the other some time this month.

Muskox Operation Not Military Plan

Operation Muskox is not a military expedition but was conceived and planned for the purpose of ascertaining the feasibility of snow-mobiles in the Arctic regions of Northwest Canada, as well as suitability of types of clothing and other materials that would later be of great benefit to civilian life in that area, General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the permanent Canada - United States defence board, said here Tuesday.

"I ORDERED the Muskox expedition and it is most unfortunate that so many people have looked upon it from the military point of view," he told newspapermen who interviewed him at Northwest Air Command.

"The army was assigned to carry out Muskox because it was logical that it should do so," he added, pointing out that the army possessed the facilities for the tests.

It was as minister of national defence that General McNaughton planned and ordered Muskox but he had no idea that it would be viewed so widely as a test of military equipment and personnel because that was never in his mind, he declared.

NEITHER ARE ACTIONS of the Joint permanent defence board in any way provocative to Russia, he said.

"I have a great personal regard for the Russians. I am all for people being strong in their own country as long as they stay in their own country," said the former defence minister.

Continuing on the subject of Soviet Russia, he said:

"A national fear complex is one of the worst things the world has to contend with today. Let them be strong. Let them think they are stronger than they really are. Then I think they will be more ready to co-operate, providing the other nations are also strong.

ASKED IF HE THOUGHT compulsory military training should be instituted in Canada during peacetime, General McNaughton said he did not like to discuss that subject at this time.

He said he still was convinced that he had adopted the correct and only practical course during the last war.

"The Canadian Army finished the war with the strongest reinforcement position of any army on the Western front in Europe. I have said that before and I repeat it now. It was the only army that never had to break its formation. I feel my stand was fully justified," he declared.

ASKED IF HE FELT he would ever return to politics, he smiled and said:

"I'm always in politics."

He said he had been "kept pretty busy" since his retirement as minister of national defence and will likely be even busier now that he is Canada's representative on the UNO atomic energy commission.

He is delighted that the Canadian Army has taken over control of the Alaska Highway. He felt it was a fitting task for the army to maintain the highway system but thought civilian tourist camps and the like were jobs for private enterprise.

He declared emphatically that the highway will never be abandoned or be permitted to run down under army maintenance. Some of the minor airfields may be abandoned however.

HE COULD NOT estimate a date for the opening of the highway for civilian tourist use, stating that ample facilities must be first provided.

He predicted a great influx of tourists from the U.S.A. and said it would be a mistake to allow them to come before accommodation is provided.

Hundreds of applications for operating hotels along the highway have been received.

Always interested in Canada's north, General McNaughton said he looked upon the north as a most valuable civilian asset.

He is pleased that the federal government is aware of the possibilities of the north and is planning great photographic surveys for the coming summer.

AFTER THE ceremony at Whitehorse Wednesday, Gen. McNaughton planned to fly east to visit Baker Lake and Churchill. Baker Lake is a highly important meteorological centre, where weather forecasts of great value to Trans-Canada Air Lines may be made.

He looks for ever closer co-ordination with the United States in matters of military defence.

"Because of the advance of science any plan of defence must be continental in scope. If our joint defence problems are solved our position in the world will be much stronger", he concluded.

Sees Strike Votes In All CCL Unions

SAULT STE' MARIE, Ont., April 3—(CP)—C.H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) last night projected country-wide strike votes in all major Canadian Congress of Labor unions in support of the CCL's drive for wage increases.

SPEAKING TO a mass meeting of Sault Ste. Marie Steelworkers, Mr. Millard said all USWA locals would be asked to take strike votes in support of the union's demand for a $33.60 minimum wage for a 40-hour week.

By a standing vote, the meeting then authorized the union "To take any action, including a strike" to secure its demands.

Affirmative strike votes in all locals would give union officers authority to call out approximately 60,000 workers in basic and fabricating steel plants from British Columbia to Prince Edward Island.

Social Security Plans Submitted

OTTAWA, April 3—(CP)—Recommendations looking toward "a national program of social security as a whole" have been placed before Prime Minister Mackenzie King and provincial premiers by the Canadian welfare council, R. E. G. Davis, council director, announced yesterday.

THE BRIEF, entitled "Dominion-provincial relations and social security," made these recommendations:

1. A plan for contributory old age insurance extended to cover "the whole gainfully employed population."

2. Work training to complement unemployment insurance benefits.

3. Extension of the National Housing Act into low-rental projects.

4. Abolition of "residence rules" for social service benefits.

The brief also criticizes Dominion proposals now before the Dominion-provincial authorities.

The brief said 70 was too high for a pension age and the means test basis for assistance to persons over 65 would not represent an adequate solution to the problem of the not-so-old group.

It urged a contributory insurance system "to cover the whole gainfully employed population, including farmers and self-employed", and financed jointly by the Dominion and provinces.

THE COUNCIL URGED a national conference of provincial and municipal representatives to abolish or modify "residence rules" in connection with the extension of Canadian social services. Objective of such a conference would be "that no person in Canada shall be denied the social services to which he is entitled merely because he has not spent a year or longer in some province or local community".

The brief summed up the goal of social security involving a three-way partnership between the Dominion, the provinces and the local governments, integrated with the work of private agencies".

set, KC, was needed for the proper carryout of work being undertaken by the board. He said that a great deal of the additional grant would be utilized in restocking the library shelves. Ald. Blaset said that during the war period it was not possible to purchase books in sufficient quantity to meet the growing demands on the library.

No action was taken on the question of a 40 hour week for civic employes when the commissioners reported that negotiations with the Edmonton Civic Employees Federation were still being carried on.

At a previous meeting council agreed to the adoption of the three platoon system in the fire department, and ordered that it become effective on May 1. This will cost an additional $17,000 as the city commissioners had recommended had based the budget figures on that the starting date be July 1, and that recommendation.

THE ESTIMATES of the different departments, and the utilities, tentatively approved at previous meetings, were formally adopted by council. City Commissioner John Hodgson said that a revised tabulation of the estimates, embodying the changes passed by council, would be submitted at the regular council meeting to be held next Monday. The formal by-law governing the 1946 mill rate also will be submitted at this meeting.

Approval was given also to the reduction in domestic and commercial light rates. The reduction proposed will mean a saving of $186,000 to consumers this year, and an approximately $200,000 in 1947.

UNDER THE REVISED expenditures the total appropriated for 1946 will be $5,519,431. With the revised revenue figures will be $5,577,627, to leave a surplus of $58,196. Of this surplus it is understood that the $31,196 received from the increased taxation in the outer zone will be added to the levy made by the school boards.

The 49½ mill levy, and the general 29 mill levy will produce $3,383,920. This amount will be increased by the $31,196 received from the increase in the outer zone mill rate to give a total of $3,515,116 from property taxes.

To Aid Alien War Veteran

Lower Residence Requirement In Canada Citizenship Bill

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—Under the government's Canadian citizenship bill, only one year of residence in Canada, instead of five, will be required for the naturalization of those who served out of Canada in the Dominion's armed forces during the war, State Secretary Martin announced last night in the Commons.

MR. MARTIN MADE the announcement in moving second reading of the bill, aimed at clarifying the definition of Canadian citizenship. A similar bill reached first reading at the last session of parliament but was dropped because of pressure of other business.

Under the Naturalization Act, Canada since 1943 has required a "declaration of intention" to become naturalized before actual naturalization is applied for. This declaration, similar to that made in the United States, has to be made at least one year and not more than five years before naturalization takes place.

Under the present bill, such a declaration will be necessary for aliens who wish to become naturalized in Canada but not for the wives or husbands of Canadians or for non-Canadian British subjects.

ANOTHER RELAXATION is that 10 years' residence in Canada may substitute for a knowledge of French or English, thus enabling the naturalization of many people, especially in the west, who have proved to be good citizens but who have never learned to speak French or English.

On the other hand, there will be a slightly greater strictness in the new qualification requiring a knowledge "of the responsibilities and privileges of Canadian citizenship."

Mr. Martin described the bill as one which would give Canadians "greater strength and unity in order to do our full share in the world" and said the responsibilities of Canada now were "greater than ever before."

"THERE IS TOO LITTLE, not too much, national pride in this country. We are part of a great commonwealth organization that has been an example to the world, and we have every intention of remaining a part and of helping it on to greater and better things."

In the best sense, the Canadian citizenship bill was an "act of faith in ourselves and in our country."

"It is not enough to be a good 'Bluenose' or a good Ontarian or a good Albertan. Sectional differences and sectional interests must be overcome if we are to do our best for Canada and the only way this can be done is through encouraging a feeling of Canadianism....

"Citizenship means more than the right to vote; more than the right to hold and transfer property; more than the right to move freely under the protection of the state; citizenship is the right to full partnership in the fortunes and the future of this nation."

THE BILL WOULD enable a Canadian to:

1. Receive a Canadian passport.
2. Enter Canada.
3. Be deported from Canada under circumstances in which deportation is required under existing principles of international law.
4. Receive diplomatic protection.
5. Enjoy full political and economic rights within Canada.
6. Own a Canadian ship or a part thereof.
7. Possess the common status arising from allegiance to the crown and the right to be and call himself a subject of the King.

MR. MARTIN SAID Canadians long had been irritated when told on occasion, in reply to a question as to their national status, that there was no such thing as a Canadian and that some other national status had been declared.

The present bill would provide that, insofar as any questions coming within the competence of the Canadian government was concerned, the answer "Canadian citizen" in reply to an inquiry as to national status will be sufficient.

2 Manitoba MLA's Repudiate SC Rift

WINNIPEG, April 3.—(CP)—The two Social Credit members of the Manitoba legislature last night dissociated themselves from a movement in the province to break away from the Social Credit Association of Canada.

(In Winnipeg Sunday, Paul Prince, speaking as president of the Manitoba organization, announced he was abandoning the Canadian association to become leader of a new group to be known as the Christian Democracy of Canada.)

The members, N. L. Turnbull, Hamiota, and Dr. S. W. Fox, Gilbert Plains, said there were several Social Credit groups in the province who had not withdrawn their support of the national body. They intended to attend the Regina convention of that organization if the legislature were prorogued in time.

Sask. Labor Act Overhaul Delayed

REGINA, April 3—(CP) — The Saskatchewan legislature, driving through a heavy order paper toward prorogation, will take no action at this session on a proposed government hours of work bill which would have instituted a 44-hour week in the province with time and a half for overtime over eight hours a day.

Labor Minister C. C. Williams made the announcement yesterday in a statement as the house labored through committee consideration of a number of voluminous bills including measures respecting hail insurance, animals running at large and grading and sale of vegetables within Saskatchewan.

THE MINISTER SAID the work act, which was on the order paper for second reading, would not be proceeded with because "there appears to be considerable, possibility of conflict between the federal wartime wages control order and any provincial legislation which would purport to maintain earnings while reducing hours of work.

"It is not considered desirable to pass legislation which would reduce hours without maintaining take-home pay. At the same time it is felt that considerable confusion would arise if the present bill were passed under such uncertain conditions.

"It is proposed to continue investigation of the problem between now and the next session and it is hoped that before that time the federal regulations will be clarified."

KICKIN' AROUND -:- -:- by Wally Falk

"I am a man of untold wealth—that is precisely why I am here, I didn't tell the income tax department!"

Ilsley Forecasts Living Cost Boost

OTTAWA, April 3—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley predicted in the Commons yesterday a "modest" increase will occur in the Canadian cost-of-living but said it will protect consumers and producers alike from the "economic and social disloceration" which will develop if inflationary pressures are given "free rein."

IN A 1,500-WORD statement on price control, Mr. Ilsley said the increase will result from recent increases in the ceiling prices of various products authorized by the Prices Board.

He said:

1. The government had no intention of abandoning, wholly or substantially, its price control program.

2. The danger of inflation still was "very great."

3. The government's price policy for the transition period was to give a "reasonable degree of stability to living costs while creating conditions favorable to a high level of employment and production."

4. Consumer demand and purchasing power now exceed their wartime levels and it would be "unthinkable" to allow prices to find their own levels.

5. "Small" increases would occur in the next three or four months in the retail prices of clothing and furnishings."

MR. ILSLEY SAID the Canadian system of price control always was permitted price adjustments in cases of "genuine necessity" and added that it would be folly to pretend the government could continue to administer the same more or less inflexible system that prevailed during the war.

He said this was the present Prices Board policy in determining whether or not ceilings should be increased:

1. Where the Board is satisfied that production is capable of expanding on the basic period selling prices, then basic period selling prices will continue in force.

2. However, where it can be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the board that present ceilings are prejudicially affecting production and employment, adjustments are made.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Is Suicide Victim

MARYVILLE, Tenn., April 3—(AP)—Ten-year-old Bobby Thatcher, of nearby Parham Hill, was found dead yesterday at home with a pistol wound in the heart. Coroner Ed. Griffitts said after an inquest: "All indications are that it was suicide. It was the youngest case of which I know. The boy had been ill for two years and unable to attend school."

The Germans were the first people to use gunpowder in warfare in 1338.

The Peace River Outlet

Western members of the House of Commons, representing all parties, joined to urge the Government to open up the Peace River area in Alberta and British Columbia by building a railway outlet to the Pacific coast. The Government accepted the motion, and promised to give the proposal immediate consideration.

Explaining the situation, without opposing the motion, the Minister of Transport said experts had reported that such a railway would not be warranted until traffic from the area reaches a volume of 1,000,000 tons per year. The present traffic is about 250,000 tons.

A notable feature of the discussion was the view, expressed by the western members generally, that the road should be built as a development enterprise, without waiting until there is traffic enough to assure its operation without loss. The point was stressed that if the railway had to be operated for some years at a loss, this would be offset by the saving of new opportunities for settlement, production and business.

In no former discussion—and there has been a discussion at every session for many years—have members from the west been so unanimous or so outspoken in their willingness to take responsibility for deficits if these should be the result of building in advance of existing traffic requirements. That brightens the prospect that construction may proceed as soon as material and labor conditions make this practicable.

Fight Against Cancer

The Alberta branch of the Canadian Cancer Society is campaigning this month to raise a fund to fight the disease against which its operations are directed. It is hoped to raise the sum of $2,000,000 across Canada in this campaign. Alberta's share is $35,000.

The purpose of the fund is to provide research and education and to enlarge the number of cancer clinics that operate across the country.

There are only two of these clinics in Alberta, at Edmonton and at Calgary. But they are equipped with the most skilful people who are acquainted with their accomplishments should be unusually eager to provide the means whereby their benefactions may be extended.

More intensive research is one of the important objectives of the campaign. The cause of cancer, almost alone among the major diseases, has eluded the enquiries of scientists. But there is no reason why it should continue to elude diligent and well-supported research.

Cancer, however, is curable when taken in its early stages. And that is where the cancer clinics accomplish such a splendid purpose. Thousands of people who through fear or ignorance or apprehension of expense would succumb to cancer are able, through these clinics, to secure timely treatment and a complete restoration of health.

Edmonton people should require little urging to support this excellent campaign.

"Good Neighbors"

The ceremonial handing over of the Alaska highway by the United States to Canada, which takes place at Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, today, is well worth all the fanfares that will be sounded, all the cannon that will be fired, all the style parade and pin wheels that will be blown up, all the mindfulness, in a word, that can be bestowed upon it.

Not just because we Canadians are getting something out of the war—something we needed rather badly, a good highway built for us by someone else; not just because it writes another chapter in post-war history; not just because the highway opens up vast Canadian territory that might not otherwise have been easily accessible for years to come.

The road, as everyone knows, was built by the United States army to give quicker and easier and more secure access to the American empire of Alaska at a time when the sea route was fraught with peril from enemy action. It was no time, even had there been a disposition, to quibble over Canadian territorial rights; an overland route into an ally's outpost was as essential to our safety as to his.

Even now there must be lurking in the minds of general staffs, who ignore probabilities to reck of the remotest possibility, the thought that some day the same quick access to America's northernmost battle station may be needed again; and if so, Canada and the Commonwealth will be just as vitally interested as in Pearl Harbor's fateful hour.

But for the indefinite future, the strategical highway, built by Americans through Canadian territory as the Romans built roads through ancient Anglia, will be an artery for this country's commerce, putting us to some extent in the position of a mercantile rival of the nation that laid it down.

It is such considerations which make today's ceremony, but especially what it symbolizes, commendable to European powers who demand quid for every quo, and study each move on every frontier from the standpoint of its hostile significance. When a Balkan or a Baltic state receives assistance from a powerful neighbor, that state's chances are remote of ever being released from the burden of "protective" occupation.

Not so in the North American manner; instead, this country, without any treaties, protocols, concordats or bargaining, unhesitatingly admitted its neighbor to build what was primarily a military work, which, when the danger had passed, he, equally unconditionally, handed over to us as a gift.

Anxiously watchful humanity will perceive the first pale gleam of the millenium when continental Europe begins even to think like this.

Out of the Deep

Somewhere out in the north Pacific an earthquake shook and perhaps upheaved the bed of the ocean. The seismograph reports had hardly been published when tidal waves rolled in on the shores of the Hawaiian islands, the coast of Alaska and the sunny beaches of California. The waves travelled at an estimated speed of 300 to 400 miles an hour.

The quick reaction on so widely-separated shores indicates that the subterranean shocks covered a large area. The speed and height of the waves suggests the violence of the disturbance. It must take a vast amount of energy to send waves a hundred feet high rolling across 1,500 miles of ocean at the speed of a fighter plane.

It will be days before the count is made and it is definitely known how many persons were drowned or killed, how much damage done to homes and ships and other property. In the circumstances early reports are as likely to be under as over the mark, for communication with out-lying islands and coastal points was broken.

The term "tidal waves", by the way, is a misnomer. They are not tidal in origin or nature. But the phrase has long been used, its significance is well known, and it is likely to continue in use. Earthquake-waves would be literally correct, but less convenient.

Perhaps the extent of this disaster will help like-experts more accurately to forecast the wave-creating effects of the atom-bomb explosions which are to be set off in the south-west Pacific on Dominion Day. That the man-made disturbance will be less far-reaching and less violent is to be hoped.

Twenty-four Japanese submarines, some of them of the largest and very recent types, were towed out of Sasebo harbor and sent to the bottom, in water too deep for salvage operations. This is another instance of what a layman would call sheer waste. But the U.S. naval experts knew of nothing better to do with the ships and no way in which the metal could be economically turned to use.

No man in any theatre of war did a finer or more courageous thing than Company Sergeant Major John Robert Osborn of the Winnipeg Grenadiers. At Hong Kong he smothered a Japanese grenade with his body and thus saved his comrades. His relatives have reason to cherish the Victoria Cross which has come to them as a tribute to his valor.

The Saskatchewan legislature has set a maximum highway speed of 45 miles an hour for night driving, and 60 miles for daytime. There is no mileage maximum in Alberta, the driver being required to avoid whatever may be construed as "dangerous driving". The Saskatchewan experiment will be watched with interest in this and other provinces. The claim has been made here that to set a minimum figure authorizes a driver to travel at that rate of speed, and provides him with an excuse if he gets into trouble while not exceeding the legal limit.

Sheltering Gouzenko From Soviet Vengeance

Today in Europe

Identity, Except Name, of Informant Against Russian Embassy Is Elaborately Safeguarded, and May Include Plastic Operation When Inquiry Is Over

By Randolph Churchill

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MONTREAL—During the spy hearings, the Canadian government has been taking great pains to insure the safety of their star witness, Igor Gouzenko, former Soviet Embassy code clerk. All photographers have been barred from court, the public has been excluded, and the newspaper correspondents who have been admitted have honorably refrained from giving any detailed physical description of the witness.

But everyone knows, most of all Gouzenko, that the Kremlin has a long arm. It took them many years to catch up with Trotsky, but eventually he was felled by an assassin in Mexico City in 1940. Gen. Walter Krivitzky, former chief Soviet intelligence agent in Western Europe, who indulged the curious whim of preferring life outside the Soviet Union and published revelations about the Soviet spy system, was found mysteriously shot to death in a Washington hotel in 1941.

When the spy trials are over, the Canadian Government is ready to accord Canadian citizenship to Gouzenko. But it is realized that his expectations of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" in the North American continent would not be long if he could be easily identified. It is possible that he and his wife may be operated on by a plastic surgeon as a further precaution. This might seem excessive to some people.

But not to those who have sampled the Soviet terror.

ONE OF THE MOST disturbing factors in the recent spy revelations has been the claim of many self-confessed Canadian traitors that they were animated by a loyalty "above their loyalty to Canada." Once again we see the workings of the Communist Fifth Column, which has not even the excuse of serving an international idea but only serves the imperialist aims of a foreign country.

But there is one bright side to this shoddy story. Why did Gouzenko expose the machinations of the Soviet Government and the treacheries of the Canadian subjects whom the Russians are alleged to have suborned? Those who have sat through the preliminary hearings are unanimous in their verdict. He did it because he had fallen in love with Canadian liberty.

He stated in court that what had struck him most was the realization that, in Canada people were really free. He had been brought up in Russia to believe in the abstract idea of liberty and had, in his innocence, supposed that he was enjoying it. The two years he spent in Canada were a revelation to him of what freedom truly means. What seemed decisive in his mind was that, for the first time in his life, he had witnessed free elections.

GOUZENKO TESTIFIED that, in Russia, the state decides where you learn, what you learn, where you work, and at what you work. He found in Canada that people can make their own lives, can live where they want, and talk frankly to anyone they choose. In Russia, testified Gouzenko, you often cannot even talk to your friends.

Many thoughtful people have been worrying as to how the insidious undermining by the Communist international fifth column can be resisted. For hateful though the idea is it is an idea. And it can be resisted and overcome only if the free peoples have an idea that is as challenging and complete as that which grips the minds of Communists.

The story of Gouzenko seems to point the way. He was not propagandized; he was not hired; he was not coerced. He was a volunteer in the cause of freedom everywhere. His story should be widely told. Hollywood, which is always searching for themes, might do far worse than tell the story of a man who was born and reared as a slave and who, through the good fortune of his later environment, succeeded in fighting his way to freedom.

With Honeyed Words

Our new age of barter seems to be beautifully illustrated in an advertisement from a Bournemouth paper which announced that "Beekeeper will exchange 12 sections honey for new golf balls: offers." We do not know what the official rate of exchange is as between honey and golf balls; nor, apparently, does the advertiser, who is waiting hopefully to see. But considering that new golf balls have very nearly disappeared entirely from the golfer's ken a whole hiveful of honey might be needed as a sweetener to coax three new balls from the bag.

The Law on Canadian Nationality—I.

Who Is Canadian?

By Grant Dexter

Ottawa Bureau of The Edmonton Bulletin

With the re-introduction of the Canadian citizenship bill, the confusions and obscurities which have enveloped the question of Canadian nationality are in a fair way to be dispelled.

The official title of the bill is "an act respecting citizenship, nationality, status of aliens and status of aliens". The sponsor of it is Hon. Paul Martin, Secretary of State. The immediate background of the measure is as follows:

Speaking at Winnipeg last May in the federal election campaign, Mr. King declared that if the Liberal party were returned to power, the contradictions in our laws with respect to Canadian nationality or citizenship would be cleared away. The Liberal party was re-elected and in due course a bill was introduced and given first reading. The legislation died in December on the order paper. With the opening of the new session, however, the bill is to be proceeded with.

IN THE DEEPER sense, no legislation could be more important than this measure. Nationalism, the sense of patriotism, is one of the most potent forces in the world. Nationality may be defined as the political and juridical bond which unites the individual to the state from which are derived his rights and obligations. As Canada has grown and prospered, the deepening of the sense of Canadian nationality has been evident on every side. The very word Canadian, which up to relatively recent years was applied only to Quebeckers, is now accepted gladly by all.

There are two points about this legislation. To begin with, no great are the confusions in law with respect to nationality, that it is difficult to indicate clearly the dramatic changes which are now to be brought about. That they are real and vital is unquestionable.

ON THE SECOND POINT, it may be said no measure could be more fascinating in the light that it throws backward across the years of our growth and development. For in this bill and in the record of the past which preceded it, we proceedes it, will be found an exact parallel to the major story of our rise to autonomous nationhood. Nationality is, so to speak, a by-way which has followed, though not without many devious turns, the broad highway which lead from colonial status to autonomy. The record which underlies this bill is an exact parallel to that of the development of self-government. This second point will be brought out in reviewing the story of Canadian legislation with respect to nationality.

To revert to the first point, the dramatic quality of the change can be best illustrated by example. Na-

The Truth About Europe's Food—

Some Rumors Spiked

Survey of Actual Conditions Shows That Pictures of Revolting Conditions Have Not Been Overdrawn, in Spite of Some Recovery

Reprinted from The Ottawa Citizen

Suggestions that food conditions in Europe are not as black as they are painted are not borne out by a series of surveys, official and unofficial, made by the writer and by government agencies. Soldiers have brought back stories of German living in luxury and plenty. Fantastic tales come back of black marketing meals and entertainment in the cities of Europe. Relief workers, on the other hand, have brought back stories of starvation, misery and death. Where does the truth lie?

Holland, it is true, has overcome her worst, conditions. In doing so she has achieved a miracle. Early Holland suffered more than any other country under the German yoke in western Europe.

By the last weeks of April last year the ration lasie in western Holland was down to 230 calories per day—the falling dead of hunger in the streets of The Hague. Today the government, by wise food purchase, by the proper utilization of their resources after the Germans left, and by a farsighted program of importation initiated in the early days of the Dutch government in England, is able to maintain a basic ration of 1,911 calories which, by various gradations, reaches 3,681 for heavy workers.

IN BELGIUM, where conditions are good, the bread ration has been reduced from 450 grammes a day to 400. The expectation is that from wheat is to be increased to 83 per cent, and ten per cent rye will be added.

Ten per cent of rye wholemeal is to be incorporated with flour for breadmaking. The admixture of maize flour also is contemplated, in so far as the small stocks available for human consumption permit. Horsley, too, and mules are fit for human consumption are excluded from the accessory food industries, and may not be used for feeding cattle. The use of wheat as cattle feed was already forbidden by a decree-law issued after the liberation of Belgium.

In addition the government is taking steps with regard to agriculture to place a view to increasing the harvest of crops of prime necessity, such as wheat, potatoes, and sugar beets. Since the liberation, the idea of enforcing a cultivation plan on growers has been dropped. As fertilizers are so scarce, it was felt that farmers' experience of their own land was the best guide.

DENMARK IS IN GOOD condition. Copenhagen is one of the comfortable cities to live in these days.

Who Is Canadian?

By Grant Dexter

Ottawa Bureau of The Edmonton Bulletin

tionality may be baffling in the extreme to the ordinary person.

SUPPOSE you are a Canadian born in the British Isles or elsewhere outside of this country. Suppose you have lived most of your life here and, in every sense, a Canadian through and through. Perhaps you left Scotland or Germany or Russia or Iceland or the United States or Armenia or Poland when very young and do not even remember your birthplace. Now suppose you leave Canada on business or pleasure or for any reason. It means something to you, and to your family in Canada that under the present laws you stand to forefeit Canadian citizenship and automatically revert to the citizenship of your native land after one year. Just glance at subsection E of section 2 of the Immigration Act. If and when you desire to return to what is, in reality, your own country—you will find that you must come in as an immigrant subject to all the regulations of the Immigration Act. You have no rights as a citizen whatsoever. This is not necessarily so but it may be so and in many cases has been so.

OR SUPPOSE you and your wife are native born Canadians and while outside of Canada, a baby is born. As parents, you might think of your baby as a Canadian, as of your own country. Not so. Under the present law the baby cannot inherit its parents' nationality. It would stand under the existing statutes as a native of the land of its birth and when you bring it home, the Canadian immigration officers would be compelled by the law to pass the father and mother freely into this country but deal with the baby as an alien and an immigrant.

Again suppose that you have grown up in Canada, although born elsewhere, and in a time of depression find yourself out of work. You may have lived in Canada 30 or 40 years. You may have raised a family of Canadian-born children. Yet the mere fact of your having become a public charge makes you liable under the present law to deportation to the land of your birth.

SOMETIMES, people become impatient with legal questions of nationality. They are not interested in the status of citizenship. They regard it as fussing and bothering about an unimportant thing.

It is not one of the cases just cited is an imaginary or hypothetical case. Every one is an actuality. Every one has happened. A little reflection will recall many examples.

The question could be of more practical importance than this question of Canadian citizenship.

Stagnant Water

Editor Bulletin: I read with interest your editorial in last Saturday's paper which was headed "Time For New Paving," and I quite agree with you as far as the needs of paving in this city are concerned. But brother, stagnant water which is left lying in our streets is far more liable to spread disease than any dust. Apart from that, paving of the few main streets of the city, which seems to be the intention of our city fathers, will not eliminate the dust problem. In fact, if you pave all the back lanes in the city you will still have dust to contend with.

However, the waterlogged streets in the outlying districts could be eliminated by a modern drainage system, but it seems the city fathers show no interest at all except around election time when they get to their points to sympathize with us and deplore the conditions which we are subjected to, in their efforts to win votes.

May I submit my own locality for example, Calder to wit. Right now some of our streets are in such a condition that some of the boys who have just returned from overseas are reminded of Venice, the city of canals. Large patches of this same water will be with us all summer to be stagnant, and our children will be compelled to puddle their way through to school.

Perhaps you may say "why don't these people take the necessary conditions to the notice of city council?" For your information we have written the city council time and again deploring the condition of our streets, the poor street car service, and numerous other complaints, but all of our appeals have fallen on deaf ears. May I remind you also that I am speaking from a full taxpayer's point of view and not referring to the outer zone.

Shortly there will be an enormous amount of city-owned property covered with every obnoxious weed imaginable and nothing will be done about it. However, that same body will be mighty quick to send out notices to the home owner containing dire threats if he does not clean out the few weeds in his garden.

Until consistency is shown by our city fathers and also a little more consideration shown to the residents of outlying points of the city who pay their full share of taxes, we can never expect a beautiful city or a satisfied public.

TOMMY HOUGHTON.

Farm Improvement Loans

Editor, Bulletin: The government in passing the Farmers' Improvement Loans Act in 1944 led us to believe it was an act to help any honest farmer who really needed the money to make a go of his farm, apparently it is only meant for those who were able to do without it. I would like to get more information about this from the men who have tried it.

My husband and I bought a quarter section of land in 1936. There was not an acre broke on it then. Now we have 76 acres broke and about 50 acres cleared to break this coming summer. We have the land almost paid for and since then we have made on this farm has gone back into it except for what we have to bare living.

I think my husband can be called an honest, hard worker. Now my husband would like a loan of six or seven hundred dollars to buy an old tractor and a breaking plow. There's a lot of other farmers here who want to do the same this summer. If my husband had the plow and tractor he could get more than enough work to pay off the loan. But one banker here told him in order to get a loan of that amount he would have to have an equal amount of money of his own.

Well, if we had seven hundred dollars we would not need a loan. So what do you think of it, is there any fair play in this, I'd like to know? FARMER'S WIFE.

Widows' Pension

Editor, Bulletin: I am a widow almost 60 years of age. My health is not good; I have heart trouble; but I am forced to go out to work to earn a living. There is really no place for us in the world. Surely there is some one who will take this up and fight for a widows' pension.

There are family allowances, mothers' pensions, old age pensions (when we were out!), but nothing for a widow who has no children under 16. I have a girl of 15 who had to leave school to earn a living. Why?

We are the old pioneers who made this country in the early days, now we can starve because we do not want relief and will not take it.

Get a widows' pension apart from mothers' allowances for us.

Electric Rate

their lighting when the new rates went into effect.

The new domestic rate provides for payment of four cents for the first 40 kilowatt hours, two cents for the next 110 kilowatt hours, and 1½ cents over 150 kilowatt hours. The rate for electric range users will be four cents for the first 40 kilowatt hours, two cents for the next 110, and one cent for all over 150 kilowatt hours.

THE COMMERCIAL RATES approved call for payment of four cents for the first 100 kilowatt hours, 3½ for the next 500, and two cents for consumption over 600 kilowatt hours.

The motion to adopt the new rates was made by Ald. Fred J. Mitchell.

Ald. A. Bisset, KC, was of the opinion that the reduction in light rates should be considered when the entire utility set-up was under consideration. He said that if the principle of reducing rates on those utilities making large profits was to be adopted, it should follow that those utilities being operated at loss or having to be subsidized by the other utilities should be brought on a paying basis.

He said the time had come when council should give consideration to the whole question of the utility rates, and added that he would give notice of motion at the next meeting of council to this effect. Council, he added, has not "got its teeth into the utility question," and it must face the problems of rates and other matters in connection with their operation.

ALD. BISSET SAID there was no reason why demands for services now being made should not be paid from utility profits and not be charged against property. He said this might be a solution to the reduction of the very high taxation rate against real property.

He referred to the brief presented by the Edmonton Taxpayers' Protective Association in which it was pointed out that profits from utility operations were used to reduce taxation burdens by British and American cities.

He was not objecting to the decrease in the electric light rates, he added.

Atom Energy

director-general of UNRA, was unable to attend the ceremony because of heavy duties with UNRA food shipments, it was announced, Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, also failed to arrive as was expected.

A FORMER CHAIRMAN of the National Research Council of Canada, Gen. McNaughton talked at great length with reporters on the potentialities for peace and war of atomic energy.

As an outstanding Canadian electrical engineer, who organized and commanded Canada's overseas army for a lengthy period in the Second World War, Gen. McNaughton discussed the age of the atom with the quiet, detached attitude of both the scientist and the soldier. He was also Canada's minister of national defence during the closing period of the Second World War.

He was enthusiastic over the possibilities of atomic energy in what he called the "arts, industrial and medical fields," but did not seem to share the alarming views and pronouncements published and uttered since the first atomic bomb exploded over Hiroshima.

"I WAS KEPT fully informed about the rapid progress made in atomic energy research when I was overseas although I could not share in the actual work. I was not at all surprised at the speed at which the research and practical utilization took place late in the war," he told his interviewers.

Te explained Canada's representation on the atomic energy commission as the result of the great part the Dominion had played in the development of atomic energy research, starting as early as 1940 under the National Research Council.

It will be the objective of the commission to see that atomic energy is primarily used for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all peoples and to act as trustees to work out a common ground of development among all nations.

"All this is vitally important to the future welfare and happiness of humanity," the general observed.

"I BELIEVE the UNO committee on atomic energy will be holding a meeting shortly to plan the preliminary steps. I feel there will be a lot of difficulties to overcome. An agreement will not be reached in one or two or perhaps 50 meetings. The most important thing, however, is the will to go ahead," he added.

General McNaughton would not predict when atomic energy will be available for industrial power purposes on a large scale.

He did not think this nearly so important at the moment as are many of the now available processes and techniques resulting from the splitting of the atom.

The advance of nuclears physics and studies in radio activity already have endowed many by-products with new and marvellous uses.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING and medicine are two fields in which virtually unlimited resources have been placed in the hands of the scientist for the first time as a result of the splitting of the atom.

New and what seems to be highly valuable catalysts have been made available in abundance, the general pointed out.

"This is speeding studies in the great war against cancer. Where these studies had been retarded because of the shortage of radium, medical science now does not have but he was of the opinion that these reductions should be considered when all other aspects of utility operations were under review.

to depend on this substance owing to the splitting of the atom", he said.

"We have all of this right now apart from atomic energy possibilities for driving steam engines or in bombs and I think this is of far more importance to mankind", he said.

As to the atomic bomb itself and the future of war the general declared:

"ANYONE MAKING predictions in the absence of full information—and a complete basis of understanding is not yet available—is just sticking out his neck. The only thing we can do is to reason from what has happened in the past.

"The atomic bomb is no more significant than gunpowder was in its first day.

"Gunpowder ended the knight in armor and the closed order of battle,,but didn't abolish the need for armies and navies. It merely caused a change in their form and methods. It brought the cavalry that reached a state of perfection and mobility at Waterloo.

"UNTIL THE NATIONS are prepared to drop war altogether we will need armies, navies and air forces to defend us. But don't think any of those forces will remain the same as they are now. It is beyond credence what these changes will be," the general said.

He pointed to the immense changes in the Canadian Army of 1939 over that of 1918.

In 1918 there was about 2,000 horse power to a division while the army of 1939 had 250,000 horse power to a division all in new mechanical energy.

The horse power of an armored division ran into the millions.

"There will have to be closer collaboration between the ground and air forces in the future and a more complete integration of sea, land and air forces, he said.

WHAT IS ALREADY taking place in the United States and in Great Britain will follow in time in Canada, he predicted.

"This must be done and it will result in profound changes in the military setups of all countries.

Interviewed at the officers' club at the Northwest Air Command as a result of arrangements made by L. H. Phinney, special Canadian commissioner for Northwest Defence Projects, General McNaughton later went to the Macdonald hotel for the night, leaving with the official party for Whitehorse early Wednesday.

Ottawa Loaned $4 To South Africa

OTTAWA, April 3. — (CP) — Tucked away among figures running into the millions, a $4 debit against South Africa found a place in a parliamentary document yesterday. Maxime Raymond (BP-Beauharnois-LaPrairie) had asked what countries Canada had loaned money to in 1939. In a list of balances outstanding for temporary advances was a $4 item for South Africa. Largest item in the list of advances outstanding was $67,425,-559 against France.

Winnipeg Juniors May Have Trouble

WINNIPEG, April 3.—(CP)—If Winnipeg Monarchs win the Western Canada Junior hockey championship—and they now are only one game away from the title—they may go east for the Memorial Cup finals minus five of their players.

Four of the Monarchs—Clint Albright, Don McRae, Al Buchanan and Hy Beatty—are students at the University of Manitoba. Their Easter examinations coincide with the games in Toronto. The fifth, defenceman Bill Tindall, may not be able to get away from his job.

Coach Walter Monson says, however, he hasn't given up hope he'll take a full team to Toronto if the Monarchs win the western crown, but he doesn't explain how he'll do the trick.

Hamilton Enters Eastern Finals

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—Hamilton Tigers last night defeated Pembroke Lumber Kings 12-5 to enter their best of three eastern Allan cup semi-final series in two straight games and advance into the finals against Montreal Royals, Quebec Senior Hockey League champions.

Heavier and more powerful than the Ottawa district champions, Tigers steam-rollered over the Pembroke lumber line in a manner similar to that which won them the first game 9-1 at Toronto last Saturday.

Pats to Practice Thursday Night

Army and Navy Pats, of the City Senior Girls' Fastball League, will hold their regular practice on Thursday night at the McDougall school gym commencing at 7:30 o'clock. All players will be welcomed and Coach Clare Hollingsworth is especially looking for a catcher.

John Sofiak Is Brilliant For Losers

By HAL DEAN
Sports Editor, Edmonton Bulletin

WINNIPEG, Man., April 3.—Striking for three quick goals with the score tied in the first period, Winnipeg Monarchs went on to earn a 5-3 victory over Edmonton Canadians and push the Albertans to the brink of elimination from the western junior final series here Tuesday night.

Monarchs now hold a three game to one advantage in the best of seven playoff, having taken two out of the three played at Edmonton last week. The fifth is scheduled for Thursday night.

The five thousand fans who jammed the Ampitheatre saw the home team score three goals within one minute and 29 seconds in the opening period. And they witnessed a marvellous exhibition of goal tending by young John Sofiak who almost single handedly kept a seemingly disorganized team in the game.

SOFIAK WAS good all the way, but he was brilliant in the first 20 minutes and drew a terrific hand from the customers. All told Monarchs had 34 shots on the Edmonton net, 12 of them in the first and 12 in the second stretch. The figures were even for the third canto, both clubs having seven shots chances. As Canadians not only came back, but carried the play to their opponents even at times when they were shorthanded.

Harry Taylor, most dangerous of Winnipeg attackers throughout, accounted for two of the Monarch goals, others going to Gordon Scott, Gordon Fashoway and Lawrie May. Don Slater, Ron Matthews and Bill Gadsby scored for Edmonton.

Edmonton took control right at the start and maintained a wide margin for the entire period, even Rocket operation of the forward line for a part of the session, but oddly enough the Monarchs had only two shots on goal for the first five minutes.

BLACK SLIPPED through for Canadians but shot wide, and Cy and Eddie Litzenberger eventually got in drives at Jack Gibson. Lawrie May's was really the first very dangerous shot at the Edmonton net but Sofiak got his stick on the puck.

Dame Fortune smiled just a little to give Winnipeg the first goal of the game. Al Buchanan fired a high shot from just inside the blue line, the puck hitting the wire mesh several feet above the boards and to the side of the goal. Taylor went in fast for the rebound.

Penalties to Matthews and McRae left both teams short, but they were back on the ice before "Slats" Slater took Bill Black's blue line pass and cut in around the defence. Slater went right in giving Gibson no chance, to square the deal at 13.19.

THE THREE MONARCH goals which quickly followed came as a surprise to everybody. Scott whipped in to beat Sofiak on a pass from Albright. It was Scott's 34 seconds later Taylor counted, McRae and Fashoway being credited with assists. He cracked as if the Canadian goalie had stopped the shot, but the puck trickled over the line.

Taylor and Fashoway combined for the next. Taylor had a clean break for the goal after he took the puck from Pettinger in the centre ice area. Sofiak stopped Taylor cold, but Fashoway followed in fast.

Canadians were twice shorthanded two men in the second period. Eddie Thomas was off for interference and Black followed for highsticking, but the Edmonton juniors fought back and Matthews failed to capitalize on the two-man advantage which lasted about a minute.

ALBRIGHT WAS serving a penalty for tripping Matthews behind the Canadian goal when the Albertans scored their second marker. The Edmonton juniors went to work in earnest and hemmed the Monarchs in behind their blue line.

Slater eventually got the puck out to Matthews who drove a screened shot into the net and on

Boston Defeated 3-2

Overtime Goal by Peters Puts Canadiens 2 Games Up

By PIERRE LEMOYNE

MONTREAL, April 3.—(CP)—With a spectacular goal after 16:35 minutes of sudden-death overtime, Jimmy Peters gave Montreal Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Boston Bruins before a capacity crowd last night to put Canucks into a two-game lead over Boston Bruins in the Stanley Cup best-of-seven final series.

Players of both squads had been travelling at top speed in the overtime and it was anybody's game until Peters snared a loose puck in the Boston defensive zone and raced in to beat Brimsek with a low tricky shot to put an abrupt end to one of the fastest and most thrilling National Hockey League playoff exhibitions staged on Montreal ice in years.

Bruins played spirited hockey all night long and after coming from behind to knot the count in the third period, were forced unlucky to snatch victory away from Bruins.

THE BIGGEST factor in the Montreal victory was the superb goaltending of Bill Durnan. Durnan and Frankie Brimsek staged a consistent duel all evening long and both turned back one smoking shot after another and robbed the surging forwards of at least a dozen "sure" markers.

But the Montreal custodian rose to miraculous heights in the overtime to save the game time and again for Canucks. Single handed he stopped Don Gallinger who had broken away from centre ice. Durnan waited coolly for the Boston winger and just as Gallinger was preparing his shot he snatched the puck away from him.

Seconds later Durnan stopped a three-man frontal attack by Bill Cowley, Terry Reardon and Ken Smith, the puck rolled slowly behind him but his hurried stick got before it rolled over the goal line.

THE FANS HAD hardly settled in their seats when Elmer Lach sank a hard rebound off the stick of Maurice Richard to lift Canadiens into a 1-0 lead. Bruins came surging and forced Durnan to make some sensational saves until the Montreal custodian finally surrendered to the deluge of rubber that came his way and Pat (Boxcar) Egan knotted the count after a solo dash from his own blue line.

Bobby Bauer broke the stalemate and shot Bruins into the lead early in the mid-session. Bauer fired from 20 feet out a slithering drive which caught the upper left hand corner of the net before Durnan had a chance to move. The goal followed a scramble around the Montreal net at a time when Durnan's view was obscured by a maze of legs.

Canadiens monopolized the play in the final frame but Brimsek held them at bay until the halfway mark when the Montreal offensive finally paid dividends when Butch Bouchard fired a long drive that escaped the Boston custodians vigilant eyes.

Murph Chamberlain and Milt Schmidt were both injured in the third period but were forced to leave the ice. Schmidt sustained a Charley horse while Chamberlain crushed his ribs after a heavy check.

Big List of Title Fights Arranged by Mike Jacobs

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., will defend his world middleweight boxing title against Rocky Graziano of New York in a 15-round bout at Yankee Stadium next July 25.

Their signing yesterday by promoter Mike Jacobs rounded out a complete list of championship scraps which will see every United States-held fistic title put up for the defence before the summer's end.

Like most of the present titleholders, Zale is recognized as the middleweight king by both the National Boxing Association and the New York state boxing commission.

HE CAPTURED the NBA version when he knocked out Al Hostak in 13 rounds at Seattle in 1940 and won complete recognition by defeating the New York titleholder, Georgie Abrams, the following year.

The highlight of the busy summer ring season, of course, will be the heavyweight title fuss between Joe Louis and Billy Conn at Yankee Stadium June 19.

Gus Lesnevich will defend his light heavyweight crown against Freddie Mills, the British champion, in Gotham May 14 and Servo, who took the welterweight prize from Red Cochrane with a four-round knockout Feb. 1, will defend it for the first time against Ray Robinson here May 24.

IKE WILLIAMS, recognized by the NBA as the light weight) champion, will go against Enrique Balonas at Los Angeles, April 30, and if he retains his end of the title he will meet Bob Montgomery, who holds the New York-Pennsylvania version, at a later date with unanimous recognition awaiting the winner.

The same sort of unanimity will be achieved June 7 when Willie Pep, holder of the featherweight crown in New York, meets Sal Bartolo, the NBA champ.

Manuel Ortiz already has succeeded in defending his bantamweight title and the flyweight crown is worn by Jackie Paterson of Great Britain.

Zale to Defend Crown

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, April 3.—(BUP)—Prize fighters ordinarily fade down the road to obscurity by way of the primrose path but Jacobs Beach had a new and disconcerting method to puzzle over today—ham 'n eggs and steak smothered in onions.

Ordinarily such cullinary contortions simply advance a man from the undernourished proportions of a flyweight to the robust stature of a heavyweight. But ration-conscious England fears for the waistline wanderings of British Empire heavyweight champion Bruce Woodcock, who comes here 10 days hence.

Sam Burston, European representative for promoter Mike Jacobs, made this disclosure as he returned after signing Woodcock to fight Tami Mauriello at Madison Square Garden on May 13. The worry is attributed to manager Tom Hurst.

"IS IT TRUE that in America you can get steak and eggs every day?" Hurst inquired of Burston.

"Sure," said Burston, who must know somebody.

"That worries me," Hurst replied. "Bruce might eat himself right out of shape."

All of which baffles the rotund Burston, who can't conceive how the 185-pound Woodcock might grow too big.

"I've been in this business all my life and I never heard a reason like that," he said, running stubby fingers through a thick mop of black-grey-shot hair, "I'd say that his biggest hazzard is his first American fight. If he wins that one he'll be a tough boy to stop."

Woodcock is the best fighter Burston saw in England and Mike's road man believes he'll be a hit in the States. Young and rugged, the Englishman has won every fight he has had—and all but one by the knockout route. In addition to packing a wallop he can take one, too, for he has come off the deck to win.

BURSTON, WHO formerly promoted boxing in Paris and London, was worried about two items as he completed his 53rd round trip to the continent. One was his job and the other was Woodcock's silence.

"I'm Mike's European representative," he explained laughingly. "Well, I hustled home—and hustled myself out of work. If I'm in New York I can't very well be a European representative, can I?"

As for Woodcock's lack of loquacity, Burston insists that the boxer's vocabulary consists of two words:

"Ask Tom."

"Woodcock has no opinion on anything," Burston explained. "Hurst does everything, the talking, match-making and price-fixing. Woodcock is content to just do the fighting."

THE BOXER, according to Burston, is popular among pugilists. Where many fighters give the radio audience a buildup "Hello, Mom, I'll be right home," and then spend the rest of the night celebrating on champagne, Woodcock purportedly toasts his triumphs—on tea.

"His greatest thrill is getting back to that thatched cottage in Lancashire, pooling his tea ration with the neighbors and then listening quietly to the congratulations as they drink tea, Burston said.

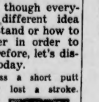

All of which makes a nice, clean young man out of Woodcock. The only thing they're worried about is whether he'll eat himself out of the heavyweight class. Imagine ham 'n eggs and steak smothered in onions threatening the career of a prize fighter.

By BYRON NELSON

It seems as though everybody has a different idea about how to stand or how to grip the putter in order to putt well. Therefore, let's discuss putting today.

When you miss a short putt you've definitely lost a stroke. Whereas when you hook a drive or miss a chip you can still overcome your mistake by hitting a good chip or making a good putt.

Nelson

Putting is done mainly by a sense of concentration and feel; feel of the putter head, the touch. To putt well there are a few things that must be done.

As for advising you how to stand and how to grip the putter, that seems unimportant because everybody holds the putter differently and stands differently. Yet they all obtain about the same results.

One of the very necessary things to do in order to putt well is to keep your putter on the line. In other words, when it goes back of the ball it must stay on a line and hit through the ball towards the cup. At all times during your putting swing, the putter must be low to the ground and low on the follow-through. This gives the ball overspin and makes it roll true.

Another very necessary thing to remember is to keep your body still while actually putting. Any movement will throw your putting stroke out of line.

Some of the best putters we have had in the game in recent years are Horton Smith, Paul Runyan, Harold McSpaden, Sam Snead, and Ben Hogan. If you were to watch these men putting you would see that they all have a different stance and all use a decidedly different putting grip.

Smith and Snead stand fairly erect with their feet close together and play the ball approximately in the middle of their stance, with their weight equally distributed on both feet.

Paul Runyan, who has retired from the game to go into the jewelry business, stood with more weight on his left foot while keeping his feet spread well apart. He played even with his left foot.

Harold McSpaden, who stands with his feet wide apart, plays the ball well in front of the left foot and kind of shoves the ball into the hole.

Ben Hogan, who is probably the most effective short putter in the game today, plays the ball off his left heel. He keeps his weight evenly distributed between both feet and has a very short backswing. He hits up and through on each putt.

All of these boys when they putt do not use all wrist-action or all arm-action in their strokes, but a combination of both. This keeps their clubheads working as a pendulum stroke.

My own style of putting is more like Sneads, but there is a difference. I play with a wide open stance so that when I am putting I am almost facing the hole. I keep my left hand firm on the club and try to tap the ball through to the hole with my right hand. I have to work constantly on my putting to keep from hitting the ball with a wrist motion. That's my weakness in this department of the game. However, when I can hold my left arm and hand firm on the club and tap the ball smoothly, then my putting is good.

Stamps Arrive in Kootenay For Opener of West Final

John Sofiak

NELSON, B.C., April 3.—(CP) — Calgary Stampeders, 12 strong, arrived in this West Kootenay city Monday and because of lack of hotel accommodation in Trail, where they open the western Canada senior hockey championship series with Smoke Eaters tonight, stayed in Nelson overnight.

The team will motor to Trail—a 2½ hour drive—tomorrow.

Stampeders were glad to stretch their legs after the train trip, but were unable to get in any skating practice here because the ice was removed from the rink during the week-end. After a tour of the city in the morning the squad motored to Trail for a light workout during the afternoon.

Trail officials said last night they have not been notified yet whether the series will be a best-of-five or best-of-seven series, but it is expected to be cut to a best-of-five affair. The second game will be in Calgary, Saturday, and the third in Edmonton, Monday. Both teams will leave for Calgary immediately after the game tonight.

Smokies will be back to full strength for the game with the return of Mike Bucina, high-scoring forward, injured in the series with New Westminster Royals.

It will be old home week for the Calgary coach, Jim Dunbar, who was a member of the Trail Moke Eaters team which won the Allan Cup in 1938. Another former Smokie of that era, Bunny Dame, will be in the Calgary line-up. Calgary is also bringing Russ Dertell, Michaluk, Pete Slobodian, Craddock, Cairns, Fisher, Hunter, Brownbridge, Grant, Desmarais, and Wilder.

Playing-coach Jimmy Morris has not announced his Trail team as yet but with Bucina back it is expected he will drop either Dave Nicol or Hedley Marshall.

Commons Approves King Plan To Separate Twin Portfolio

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 3.—(CP)—The Commons yesterday paved the way for the appointment of a separate minister of external affairs, but Prime Minister Mackenzie King warned he did not know just how soon he would be able to relinquish the department.

MR. KING SPOKE before the Commons gave third reading to a bill amending the external affairs department act so any minister of the crown might hold the portfolio.

Since 1912 the portfolio has been held by the prime minister of the day and Mr. King said the affairs of the two departments had become so intertwined they could not be separated overnight.

The bill drew support from all parties in statements by Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge). On passage of the measure, the commons prepared to take up a bill amending the Canadian citizenship act to provide for a distinctive Canadian citizenship.

At last night's sitting, State Secretary Martin introduced the citizenship bill and described it a measure that would give Canadians "greater strength and unity in order to do our full share in the world". John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) and F. E. Jaenicke (CCF-Rosthern-Sask.), only two to speak on the measure before the adjournment hour, expressed the support of their parties.

T. L. CHURCH (PC-Toronto Broadview) expressed belief the prime minister could lighten his burden by appointing a parliamentary assistant to help him in external affairs matters.

Finance Minister Ilsley announced the government has "no intention of putting into effect what some political and other groups are advocating, namely, the removal, wholly or substantially, of price controls".

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced the creation of a Canadian commercial corporation to develop trade between Canada and other countries and help private concerns obtain essential supplies from former enemy territory.

MR. KING SAID he would have separated the department of external affairs from the office of Prime Minister long ago if it had not been for the fact questions which had to be dealt with were of an international character requiring the widest experience in handling.

He said he was gratified with the solicitude the opposition had shown in wanting to lighten his burden.

"I take the solicitude with a grain of salt," said Mr. King.

He observed with glee the opposition was so anxious to get him out of the department. If he was of no use in the department he would think that they would want to keep him there.

HIS REMARKS were aimed at Mr. Graydon who wanted to know how soon Mr. King would make the switch in departments and who would be given the portfolio.

Mr. King said Canada had relations with the United Kingdom, United States, France, China, Russia and many other countries. Problems in these relations were problems that had come into being over the years and knowledge of them was necessary. He had greatly the experience in the department of external affairs.

The prime minister said he wondered what the reaction would be in Russia, for instance, if he was to resign the external affairs portfolio tomorrow. He wondered whether the move would be represented in the light that he still held the confidence of parliament, or whether it would be represented that as a result of recent actions he no longer had the confidence of parliament.

REFERRING TO REMARKS made earlier in the discussion by State Secretary Martin, Mr. King said it was true that he had practically exclusive knowledge of some of the decisions made by Winston Churchill and the late President Roosevelt. In addition, he said he had acquaintances with some of the leading men of the world.

Mr. King said he would try to arrange for the switch in departments at an appropriate time. He believed there was no desire among his party followers that he give up the post at this time.

However, he was anxious to lighten the load he was carrying and he thanked God that he had ministers around him who were taking the burden from him every day.

HE BELIEVED it would be possible to bring on a debate on external affairs within the next fortnight and to then refer the department's estimates to the house committee.

Mr. Martin said Mr. King was the only statesman still in power who had participated in the respective conferences of Churchill and President Roosevelt.

He was the only statesman still in power who was a direct link with those discussions, Mr. King had sat in on the atomic energy conferences in Washington last autumn and undoubtedly had contributed immeasurably to the discussions.

Mr. Martin said Prime Minister Attlee had stated recently in his presence that it was fortunate for the world that there were statesmen in power today of the calibre of Mr. King and Field Marshal Smuts.

MR. POULIOT SAID he disagreed with those who were trying to make Canada a small or middle power. Canada was a great nation and should be one of the greatest. She should be invited when major international decisions were being made. During the war, Canada had not been invited to sit in with the big three yet she had to accept any decision emanating from such meetings whether or not they were for the good of the dominion.

The game will be third in the series for the Pacific Coast championship, with one victory each.

WHAT IS MEANT BY "BLANKET LIABILITY" INSURANCE?

IN one contract at one rate "North America" Companies will issue a policy to you that will protect you against all insurable liability and property damage risks except automobile. This is known as "Blanket Liability" insurance. Each contract is drawn especially to protect the insured against all general as well as particular hazards—present and future, and in respect to premises now occupied or to be occupied—and any and all other exposures assumed or to be assumed.

Previously, separate contracts may have been necessary to cover public liability, property damage, contingent, contractual, elevators, teams and other risks. Now all these risks can be provided for in one contract at one rate by a "North America" Companies' Blanket Liability contract.

This "Blanket Liability" insurance is finding increasing favour among all types of business executives.

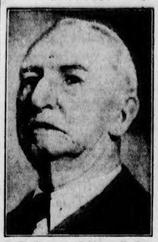

Ask your Agent or Broker to get you particulars of it from "North America" Companies.

At Winnipeg: Trading suspended.
At Chicago: Unchanged to ¼ lower, closing at 1.83½ (May).

Chicago Futures Trade Irregular

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP)—Grain futures prices coasted through most of today's slow trading within narrow price fluctuations after a fairly active demand put September wheat back at the maximum quotation and lifted oats and May rye fractionally.

May rye stood its ground here most of the time. The advances in oats failed to hold and prices generally were slightly lower.

Although of light volume, transactions were made in all deliveries of wheat at the maximum figures.

Wheat and corn finished at ceilings of $1.83½ and $1.21½; oats unchanged to ⅜ cen higher, rye unchanged to 1⅞ up, barley unchanged to ½ ahead.

Cash grain:

Wheat—No. 2 red and hard, 1.82 nominal ceiling; corn: No. 2 yellow 1.19 nominal, ceiling; no oats; barley, malting, 1.25-1.43½ nominal.

Grain close:

Wheat—July 1.83½; Sep. 1.83½; Dec. 1.83½.

Corn—May 1.21½; July 1.21½; Sep. 1.21½.

Oats—May 83; July 81; Sep. 78; Dec. 78.

Rye—May 2.21¼-½; July 1.48½; Sep. 1.48½; Dec. 1.48½.

Barley—May 1.26½; July 1.26½; Sep. 1.26; Dec. 1.25½.

Montreal & Toronto

MONTREAL, April 3.—(CP)—Papers gave another rising display in transactions up to the final hour today on the stock exchange and curb market. Industrials and utilities were also better on balance.

Egg receipts through all registered stations in the province showed an increase of 13 per cent. over the preceding week. Quality score showed 67.2 per cent. grade A, compared to 76.3 per cent. last week. The weather has been very mild and indications are that too many flocks are being allowed to range at will, thus adversely affecting egg quality. Paying prices on the Edmonton egg market remained unchanged, but there has been a slight upward revision of prices to retailers and to consumers. Eight carlots were inspected, oil dipped, and transferred to storage for fall export. Five lots were inspected for delivery to the local drying plant. Other shipments made to local army camps were equal to the previous week.

POULTRY PRICES

The poultry market continues quiet. Receipts of chicken through all processing plants in the province were 368 head. Receipts of fowl were 3,820 head. Paying prices remain unchanged, with the tone of the market very firm. One carlot of fowl moved to Toronto.

HATCHERY OUTLOOK

This week's hatchery report covers 22 hatcheries, representing 47 per cent. of the total hatching capacity for the province. These hatcheries have hatched to date 715,014 chicks at an average hatchability of 65 per cent. These hatcheries report present orders filled and advance bookings are fully 15 per cent. over the same period for 1945. The demand for heavy weight cockerels has been excellent during the past week, with no surplus on hand. Light weight cockerels continue to move only fairly well and 7,300 surplus were destroyed. Prices for all breeds and grades of chicks remain unchanged and are quoted as firm.

Turkey eggs are now being set in five hatcheries. Total eggs set since start of season 17,886. Present indications are that demand for turkey poults will far exceed supply.

Hatch results for January and February have now been recorded as follows:

January, 850 chicks hatched.
February, 305,646 chicks hatched.

The hatching capacity for 1946 is now definitely decided and is shown at 2,445,750, which represents a 10.7 per cent. increase over 1945.

SECOND SECTION — EDMONTON, ALBERTA—WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1946 — PAGE NINE

By HARPER PROWSE M·L·A·

TODAY'S column might be titled "For Ex-Servicemen Only". It is written in the hope that it will help those who are finding civilian life a little strange to a better understanding, and easier friendship with their new neighbors, and fellow-workers in civilian establishments. It is based not only on my own opinions, but on the findings of trained investigators who have studied the problems to which I will refer.

IN THE FIRST place it is well to remember that long before the war ended we had conscription in this country. Therefore, with very rare exceptions, every person you see who does not wear an ex-serviceman's silver shield, was either rejected by the services, or was frozen in essential employment of one kind or another. Somebody had to stay home and keep the fires burning, operate the machines, till

To Mark Anniversary

Spring Exhibition Planned By the Edmonton Art Club

A spring exhibition, to be staged at the Edmonton Museum of Arts by the Edmonton Art Club from April 22 to 27 will mark the 25th anniversary of the organization generally regarded by this city's brush-and-palette fraternity as the senior art club of Edmonton.

PRIOR TO THE inception of the art club, there was an Edmonton Art Association, similar to the modern Federation of Artists in that it exhibited work not only of fine art but of all the crafts and architecture. The fine art section of the association developed rapidly under the guidance of William Johnstone and 1921 became a separate entity. The original association, having completed the purpose for which it came into existence, ceased to function and the Edmonton Art Club carried on as the only local organization fostering the fine arts.

FROM ITS INCEPTION, the Edmonton Art Club endeavored to uphold a high standard when admitting to membership only those showing sufficient ability to warrant it. From the beginning there has been a steady improvement in the standard of work displayed. In general, paintings shown by the club have followed modern trends, keeping largely to landscapes, flower studies and portraits. No distinctive western art has been evolved, although there is considerable variation in the type of work done by individual members.

The original Art Club group consisted of nine members: Mr. Johnstone, John Turner, J. Gordon Sinclair, Mrs. Percival Laycock, Mrs. Mercier, Justine Springer, Dr. H. E. Bulyea, Arthur Adam and Fred Kitchener. Mr. Johnstone was the first president and Mr. Turner the original secretary.

MR. CAMPBELL succeeded Mr. Turner as secretary-treasurer and for many years did the bulk of the club's business. He has continued painting steadily through the years and his work is well-known to Edmontonians. A native of Scotland, he paints exclusively in water colors.

Mr. Johnstone came from Edinburgh in 1913. Arousing interest in art here at the time was an uphill job and the success of his efforts is a tribute to the energy he put into the task. Etching has remained his "first love", when only 21 years old, his work was exhibited in the Royal Academy. Portraits of members of the Alberta Legislature and courthouse officials kept him busy during the early days.

MR. SINCLAIR came to Edmonton from Ontario in 1912. He was a keen student of the arts and in later years was appointed art teacher at the Edmonton Technical school. He subsequently studied various phases of art in the United States.

Of the other charter members, only Miss Mercier is still connected with the organization. A well-known singer and secretary of the Edmonton Civic Opera Company, she is well-known in the community's art world.

F. H. NORBURY, Miss Theo Adamson, A. C. McCauley, William Kitchener and Lionel Gibbs were among those who joined the group during the first year of its existence. Of this group, only Mr. Norbury is residing in Edmonton at the present time. Here he is one of the city's premier exponents of the art of sculpture.

THE QUESTION

At the session of the Alberta Legislature recently prorogued, the members twice voted down a proposal that Sunday shooting of big game be prohibited. What is your opinion on this question?

THE ANSWERS

AMBY POWELL, trucker and farmer: I agree that it would be a blow at real Christianity. I think Sunday observance is very important.

LEWIS FERGUSON, salesman: Well, Sunday's the only day some of us get a chance to get out into the country—and I can't see that Sunday shooting is much worse than Sunday golf. This is especially so with big game shooting which is carried out far enough away from towns and cities so that no one is disturbed.

PETER MACDONALD, school teacher: Both sides have an argument all right, but I'm inclined to think that no great harm would be done if big game shooting were allowed on Sundays.

Many Danish women have "curiosity mirrors" which enable them to look up and down the street from their windows.

Coal Miners Get Paid Holidays

Coal miners are to receive a day's holiday with pay for each month of 23 days worked during a year with the same employer, according to an announcement by the Board of Industrial Relations on Wednesday morning.

IT IS CONSIDERED that a day's work is an eight hour shift and overtime worked is added to the credits obtained toward a holiday. While those who work a short shift due to no fault of their own, will also receive credit for a day's work, the announcement says.

In order to receive the benefit of the order the employee must have worked for the same employer for 12 preceding months.

IF A MINER leaves his job, through no fault of his own while he has an outstanding credit of holidays, he is to be paid the amount due to him in lieu of vacation, whereas, if he is discharged or quits on his own accord he will get such pay only for the holidays to which he would have been entitled at the end of his previous complete 12 months of employment.

Alaska Highway To Open Up North

The most important feature of the Alaskan Highway is in its value in opening up the north country, according to Major General Guy V. Henry, senior U.S. military representative of the joint U.S.-Canada Defence Board, when interviewed at the U.S. air base here Tuesday evening.

"IT IS OF MILITARY value the same as any other road, railway or telegraph system in a country," said the general.

In commenting on co-operation between the U.S. and Canada in building and operation of the Alaska Highway, Maj. Gen. Henry stated: "It is not easy for a people to let strangers come into their country, but the co-operation received from the Canadian people has been magnificent."

Hon. Ray Atherton, U.S. ambassador to Canada, who also was a guest at the U.S. air base, declared that the Alaska Highway was the first great joint project between the two countries for co-operation in defence of the north, and that the U.S. would always have a continuing interest in the highway.

THE CO-OPERATION and great assistance given by Canada during the building of the highway was also highly commended by J. G. Parsons, secretary, U.S. section of the joint defence board.

These officials, along with a large number of other American and Canadian military and civilian dignitaries are attending the ceremony which marks the handing over of the Alaska Highway to the Canadian government Wednesday. The group arrived here Tuesday afternoon and left for the north early today.

Others included in the party are: George Black, member of Parliament for the Yukon; Air Vice-Marshall W. A. Curtis, air member for air staff, RCAF headquarters, Ottawa; Maj. Gen. F. F. Set License Fees For Food Lockers

Regulations in regard to the licensing of frozen food lockers are modernized in a recent government announcement in which are the fees that shall be paid for such licenses and make other regulations designed to protect the public.

STANDARD LOCKERS are said in the announcement to have a capacity of six cubic feet, and those plants with 200 or less such lockers will be charged a license fee of $15, for between 200 and 400 lockers the proprietor will pay $20 and for more than that number $25 per year.

These licenses are renewable each year, on recommendation by the dairy commissioner that the plants are being satisfactorily conducted.

THOSE WHO MAKE application for the construction of such a plant are to commence work within six months of receiving permission, according to the announcement.

Arrangements are made so that in communities which the government believes will get the heat service from one plant, only one such plant shall be allowed.

BUSINESS TAX arrears collections during the 1946 period totalled $6,056.41, compared with $5,140.30 for the same period last year. Current business tax collections this year amount to $638.67.

Total tax collections from all sources totalled $2,167,682.10, compared with $1,967,288.94 for the 1945 period, an increase of $190,393.16.

Will Rent Suites Without Heaters

Tired of waiting for delivery of heaters for the last 30 of the apartments constructed from Dawson Creek, B.C. structures under the provincial - municipal temporary housing accommodation plan, city officials stated Wednesday that the suites would be rented without heaters if applicants desired to take possession.

UNDER THE BUILDING plan 238 suites have been provided for the use of servicemen attending the University of Alberta and for service personnel.

The project which was to have been completed by Jan. 1 was delayed through lack of materials, and shortage of manpower. The entire cost of the project will be tabled in the city council Monday next in answer to a question by an alderman.

Reports on Birds Made at Meeting

Reports on upland game birds, given by W. H. Tait, and migratory game birds by C. E. Brown, Tuesday evening highlighted the regular meeting of the Northern Alberta Fish and Game League in the Corona hotel. The meeting was attended by a large turnout of members.

MOTION PICTURES dealing with goose hunting and Indian activities were presented. Mr. William Rowan, of the University of Alberta, reviewed his recent trip to New York in connection with a continent-wide wild-life convention there.

Wallace Mason, honorary president, was presented with an illuminated address on behalf of the membership.

City Camera Club Resumes Activity

For the first time in more than six years a camera club is in operation in Edmonton. Known as the Northern Alberta Camera Club, the headquarters is at the Edmonton Museum of Arts. Plans are under way for its first public showing early next month. The club showing will be of the membership's work. Other projects are under way.

THE MEMBERSHIP is open to anyone interested in photography and comprises about 40 per cent advanced amateurs and 60 per cent beginners. Visitors invited by members are welcome to the meetings on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

In a recent exhibition in Edmonton there was a noticeable absence of Edmonton contributors. The club feels that this does not mean that photography as an art is lost in Edmonton.

THE NORTHERN Alberta Camera Club aims at bringing together all photographers and co-ordinating their efforts so that Edmonton may take its rightful place in the line-up of regular contributors to the salons throughout Canada and the United States, according to the secretary-treasurer, M. A. Bomerlan, 11213 92 street.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Shows Sense in Breaking And Playing the Field

After Going Steady With a Boy for Two Years Girl Receives Letter From Him in Which He Said He Was Tired of Being Tied to One Girl

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going steady with a boy for the past two years. We dated about three nights a week. But last Sunday I stayed home all day waiting for him to come and he didn't come, and on Wednesday I received a letter from him in which he said he still loved me, but was tired of being tied down to one girl.

What shall I do? Shall I forget him, or act indifferent to see if he will come back of his own accord? Both of us are still in school.

SPARKIE

ANSWER: Well, Sparkie, doesn't this show you that what I am always preaching to you girls about the folly of going steady with one boy makes sense? This boy whom you have so thoroughly made his goat-fed up with you and he ditches you, and you are left forlorn sitting on the anxious seat, whereas if you had gone about with a number of boys, you would still have plenty of dates.

WHAT'S happened with this boy is likely to happen with any other boy whose fancy you may capture. He may give you a rush for a while and then drop you. He may camp on your doorstep and then, without rhyme or reason, never come near you. He may hang on your words and then be bored to death by you. He may be loves you and then forsake you for some other girl. So why put yourself in his power by going steady with him and being dependent on him to take you to places for all your good times?

I think your boy friend showed a lot of intelligence by breaking with you so that he would be free to go around with other girls, instead of just being tied down to you, and if you are wise, you will follow his good example. Look all the boys over before you make your choice. And don't forget that while you are still a school girl your taste is changing all the time, and that the lad you were crazy about one day you may have on a bet the next.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have recently returned from the army and have met a nice girl with whom I have been going for a couple of months. She is the type that I would love to marry, but she tells me that she does not care enough for me to marry me.

WHAT IS the best way to approach a girl like that and get her to fall in love with me? Since I have returned from the Army I am very desirous of getting married, but I am so confused and don't know what to do.

EDWIN.

ANSWER: My earnest advice to you is to wait. Don't marry this girl or any other girl until you have had time to adjust yourself to civilian life and are in a position to support a family.

Perhaps it was the war conditions, being separated from women for so long, lonelessness, lonesomeness that brought it about, but an appalling number of the returned soldiers seem to be afflicted with a marrying compulsion. They think they are in love with any woman they see, no matter how unsuitable she is, and are rushing into marriage without a thought of the responsibilities it brings.

DON'T DO it, soldier. Take it easy. Wait till you get over your confusion and your emotions clarify. There will always be plenty of wives.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My wife and I have been married 20 years, have reared one daughter and put her through high school, and she now has a good paying position. I have always made a small wage, but we have been thrifty and own our own home. After our daughter went to work she contributed $20 a month for board and another $10 for her mother doing her washing, mending and dressmaking. But now that she is married her husband and his family criticize us very much because we took this money from her.

Do you think we did wrong?

J.G

ANSWER: Not at all. As soon as the girl began to earn a good salary she was in duty bound to contribute her share to the family income. Anyway, it is none of the business of her husband and his people, so don't let their opinion bother you.

Debunker

One of the most fallacious notions is that democracy means complete freedom for every one to do as he pleases. Such action would destroy democracy in a short time. The essence of democracy is not freedom for ourselves as much as the other fellow, and it is only by restricting our own actions that we give freedom of action to others. Democracy lives through unselfishness and consideration of others; and if we all do that, we all have freedom in return. Freedom is a by-product of self-discipline on the part of all the people. It is not a goal in itself.

Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

A form of bridge competition which has become quite popular is the knockout rubber bridge tournament. It is generally advisable to have 16 pairs or 32 pairs. Pairs are made up in advance but the opponents are drawn by lot.

Rubber—Both vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Opening—♣K			17

From 8 to 12 hands are played, using regular rubber bridge scoring. At the end of the specified number of hands, half of the pairs are eliminated and another round starts.

One of these games was conducted recently at the Lambs Club in New York. The winners were Stephen Chase, well-known actor of stage and radio, and Maurice Lavigne, designer of stage costumes.

You might think that Lavigne had no problem on today's hand—just win the ace of clubs, cash the finesse. But how would he know which finesse to take?

What he did was win the second club, cash the diamonds, and throw West in the lead with a club. Now West was forced to lead into one of the two tenaces.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN—

Why Grow Old?

Decorative lamps about the room do not necessarily provide good reading light. Josephine Lowman's suggestions today will help you decide whether Actress Suzi Crandall, above, has her book properly lighted.

SINCE OUR EYESIGHT is so precious to us, it seems that we would take correct lighting seriously. However, even in homes in which some thought has been given to this problem, lighting is often inadequate for best eye comfort.

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not long ago the New York Optometric Association held a meeting at the Waldorf Astoria. Many of the facts presented there are too technical for me to interpret properly but I believe I can pass a few of them along to you intelligently.

In the first place, the accepted standards of good lighting have changed. Now we deal not only with foot candles or light but with brightness ratios. The general surroundings have been found important to eye comfort, not just the light at the spot of reading. It is very bad to have the general lighting of a room very low while the supplementary lighting is very high. This is perhaps one of the greatest faults we find in most homes. If you must have dim lighting for artistic effects then do not use that room for close work, reading or study.

BLOND TABLE OR desk tops are preferred to dark ones. The difference between the point at which we see and the general surroundings can be more than ten and one. If you have ten foot candles of light in your room you can use one hundred foot candles at the seeing spot, although five and one are even better. The walls and ceilings should not be too dark.

The position of furniture and lights is also important to your best eye potentialities. Reading is not work by a light that shines directly into your eyes. By moving a light or a desk you can easily arrange things so that the light shines on the back of your head or the back of your ear.

Blown Radar Fuse Let Ships Escape

LONDON, April 3.—(Reuters)—A blown fuse which put radar equipment out of action in a British reconnaissance airplane gave the German warships Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen vital hours of undetected freedom and was a factor in their escape from Brest, France, through the English Channel to German ports in February, 1942, it was disclosed last night. Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "Johnnie was born cross and bad-tempered, I believe. Even as a baby he seldom smiled and he's so ugly with his little playmates. Spanking him doesn't do any good."

Mother: "We know children are born with no knowledge of right and wrong, so it's up to us to discover why Son is so cross and to help him learn how to play happily with other."

Thinking parents hunt for causes of undesirable behavior rather than think of it as an evidence of original sin.

"It was awfully unpleasant here during the war—never anybody around to annoy you!"

26th Annual Meeting of IODE Opens in the Macdonald Hotel

"Put on your armor of faith and use your influence to bring happiness to the peoples of the world", urged Mrs. R. C. Marshall, president of the Provincial Chapter of Alberta, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, giving the president's address at the 26th annual meeting of the chapter in the opening ceremonies held at the Macdonald hotel Tuesday evening.

Standard bearers of the city's chapters paraded, holding their standards high as they marched to music of an orchestra conducted by Dennis Clayton.

Seated on the platform were His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta; Mrs. Ryland H. New, Toronto, president of the National Chapter ! Canada; Mayor H. C. Ainlay; Hon. R. E. Ansley, minister of education; Mrs. Marshall, provincial president; Very Rev. Dean A. M. Trendell, Mrs. Ruth Bowen, Mrs. A. R. T. Anderson, regent of the Municipal Chapter of Drumheller, and Mrs. E. Code, Drumheller.

MORE THAN 350 persons attended the opening ceremonies.

"The responsibility of the individual to world peace has never been so great as it is today", Mrs. Marshall continued. There is a greater sense of personal responsibility today than there was 26 years ago but it is not great enough yet, she said. There will have to be further sacrifices made before we gain the real peace. There is need for food and clothing to alleviate suffering. The Order will continue its efforts as in the past. The Order is fully conscious of the world's needs, the speaker declared.

THE ORDER'S work progresses on all lines, Mrs. Marshall reported and the National War Memorial Fund of $28,000 will be raised.

"Canada is one of the nations best equipped to help in the United Nations Organization of which she wants to be a member, and we feel the obstacles at this time can be ironed out," she declared.

The president thanked all her officers and all members for their hearty co-operation during the past year.

"In this strenuous peace time your Order can mold public opinion as it stands for the highest ideals of citizenship," stated His Honor. The best history of the Order bears out the great work it has accomplished, he said.

MR. ANSLEY outlined the splendid work accomplished by the Order in the field of education with its bursaries, scholarships and provision of teaching aids such as pianos, libraries and so on.

There is no men's organization on a parallel with the IODE, he said.

Mayor Ainlay expressed the hope that the delegates had found suitable accommodation in the City of Edmonton. He reminded the meeting that the municipality of Edmonton was the first to extend the franchise to women. This was in 1908 and in that year the IODE had donated a horse-drawn ambulance to the city which that year made 390 calls.

MRS. ROSS hoped the meeting would be long-remembered as the city members looked forward with keen anticipation to having others held here.

Mrs. New brought greetings from the National Executive Committee and said she hoped the year just commenced will surpass all others in endeavor, achievement and fulfilment.

Mrs. Anderson, in her reply to the greetings, said members were happy to attend the first post-war convention in the capital city.

Dean Trendell offered prayer. Mrs. Arthur Newcombe was soloist and the Nurses' Choral Club of the Royal Alexandra hospital sang several selections.

Mrs. Marshall presided and following the meeting a reception was held in the hotel. She presented Mrs. New with a bouquet of flowers and presented Mrs. Ruth Bowen with a bouquet for her mother, wife of the lieutenant-governor.

Central United Church Ladies of Circle No. 5, of which Mrs. Andrew Greig is president, will hold a bazaar, sale of home cooking and tea in the Empire room of the Hudson's Bay Company store Saturday from 2:30 until 5 p.m.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

SPEAK FOR YOURSELF, CHARLIE

There was Sue over there in that corner booth with Marie. Gosh, you'd been looking all over for her all week. You've got to ask her . . . so you think fast and barge over to beg a couple of nickels for a dime. You know, no nickels, no music. She had 'em . . . and you said you'd be back . . . you had something to ask Sue.

Out of the corner of your eye you could see those two girls put their heads together. What under the sun did you want to ask Sue? You'd never paid any particular attention to her before. Aren't you going steady with Peg Sorbie? Could be going to ask for a date? You just could tell what they were saying. You dropped in another nickel . . . swung a couple of fast steps by yourself . . . and sauntered over.

"SWELL TUNE . . . it's got everything . . . and so have you Sue." That's the way you began. "Why this is so sudden," said Sue. "Well, I've been waiting to do this for a week . . . I've been looking for you everywhere . . . but here it is . . . have you got a date for next Friday night?" Sue looked at Marie! A date! "Friday night," said Sue. "Let me see." "Could you be ready at seven forty-five?" said you. "Ready for what?" said she. "I don't know," said you. "Well, a girl likes to know what she's in for . . . so she can tell what to wear and all," said Sue. "I still don't know . . . but how 'bout it?" And finally she said, "Why, yes, I'd love to have a date with you!"

And you said, "Date with me? Who said anything about a date with me?" And Sue said, "Why a you did, you goof." And you said, "I don't want a date with you. And Sue said, "Am I crazy . . . or are you crazy?" And you said, "maybe so, maybe so . . . I don't want a date with you . . . Ned Palmer does!"

NED THOUGHT you could fix things for him with Sue. You'd be the jolly old go-between. You'd arrange it all nice and slick . . . and you'd ask Sue Friday night to get over his stage-fright.

And what have you done? Fixed things up fine! You and Sue into thinking she was making a big dent on you . . . sudden admiration from an unexpected quarter. A date with anybody else would be a let down. And you'd made Ned out to be a scary-cat . . . a guy who's afraid to make his own dates. You've put the jinx on that date already . . . if Sue keeps it. She's sure there's something fishy about it now.

If it's a blind date you're rigging . . . that's different. Somebody has to introduce these two . . . and it may as well be you. But three's a crowd on any two-some date. Don't let any guy in love use you as his fixer. You're sure to plumber the whole deal. Besides . . . haven't you enough trouble with your own women?

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Alexandra hospital met in the nurses home for the April meeting when final plans were made for the bridge held Wednesday.

Mrs. Roy Lambertson reported on her visits to the chronic patients and announced that a generous check had been received from an interested friend in this work, and that had been able to bring a great deal of comfort to the patients with this money, as many of these patients have no funds of their own. Education Staff Honor Members

The rotunda on the fourth floor of the Legislative buildings presented a sparkling picture of spring on Friday afternoon when approximately 125 members of the staff of the department of education gathered in honor of Dr. G. Fred McNally, B. V. Bellamy and R. A. Douglas, three members of the staff who retired from government service on March 31.

The tea table, laid with lace cloth, was centred by a bowl of spring flowers and pale green tapers. A profusion of ferns and flowering plants were arranged throughout the reception room. Tea was served by lady members of the staff after which Dr. W. H. Swift welcomed the visitors and read a cable sent that morning from Bermuda by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke of the Clark-Irwin Publishing Company of Toronto extending good wishes to Dr. McNally on the occasion of his retirement as deputy minister of education.

ON BEHALF of those present the minister of education, Hon. R. E. Ansley, made presentations to each of the three guests: a set of English clipper luggage to Dr. McNally, a leather golf bag to Mr. Bellamy and a leather billfold containing a sum of money to Mr. Douglas.

Dr. McNally has been associated with the department of education since 1910 and was deputy minister of education from 1935 until his retirement on March 31. He and Mrs. McNally will continue to reside in Edmonton.

AFU Will Study Action Program

Alberta Farmers' Union action program, which includes the voted authority of the 24,000 members to complete the framework for organization of a farm products non-delivery strike clause, will be one of the main topics on the agenda when the board of directors meets in Edmonton April 15 and 16, it was stated Tuesday by AFU officials.

THE AMALGAMATION contact committee with representatives from the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, the United Farmers of Alberta and the AFU will hold their second session here for three days, beginning Monday of next week for further consideration of problems relative to their joint decision to merge under the banner of the AFA, which holds affiliation with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The executive of the AFU will hold a two day meeting here on April 11 and 12. Carl J. Stimpfle, president, will be in charge.

School Board Plans New Issue of Bonds

Issuance of debentures for $650,000, to be borrowed upon security of Edmonton School District No. 7, for the purpose of alterations and improvements to existing school buildings is under consideration of the Edmonton Public School Board, and was tabled for the next meeting of the board at Tuesday's meeting in the Civic Block.

THE PLAN WOULD REQUIRE approval of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, and if passed it will probably mean immediate commencement of work on two four-room elementary schools in the Ritchie and Virginia Park districts, one four-room addition to the Rutherford school, and the beginning of a first unit of the Victoria high school addition, including vocational shops, classrooms and offices.

Notice of motion was given by chairman of the board, F. Armour Ford, KC, that at the end of June, 1946, all public school buildings shall cease to be available for use for religious or other purposes.

Approval was given for the resumption of classes held during the winter under auspices of the Edmonton Council for Adult Education.

The board also gave approval to the proposal of establishing a special class for students afflicted with various degrees of deafness, this class to be ready for the fall term.

DUE TO THE DISLOCATION caused by the war it was agreed by the board that a special guidance counsellor was desirable to assist principals and teachers in their efforts to direct pupils into their most effective vocations, including senior high school students and pupils who have experienced difficulties in their studies.

Tenders for the heating, plumbing and ventilation of Delton school, submitted by the firm of Lockerbie and Hole at the figure of $30,998, was approved by the board members.

Consideration of the five-day, forty-hour week recommendation proposed by the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council for civic employees and voiced in a letter to the school board by the Edmonton Labor Council, will come up for discussion at the next meeting.

Firestone Dealers Hold Conference

With R. I. Raycroft, general sales manager and S. S. Tobias, trade sales manager of Hamilton, in attendance, a highly successful spring conference was held Tuesday night by district dealers of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, Limited.

F. JAMIESON, district manager for Firestone, presided and introduced the visiting executives.

Firestone's great contribution to the war effort and the tremendous development of synthetic rubber were fully reviewed and in analyzing the company's policy in regard to dealers it was pointed out that the new complete Firestone post-war franchise will place the independent tire dealer in an enviable position to establish a profitable year-round business and become a community shopping centre.

It was announced that Firestone dealers will have many new lines of merchandise which will enhance their position in the years ahead.

Among the subjects discussed was the already tremendous and rapidly growing market for truck and tractor tires, and dealers were shown a complete program to assist them to obtain their share of this very important market.

SHOWN AT THE meeting was a technicolor film covering the construction and the uses of Firestone products in the home, on the farm and on the road. This film, especially prepared for presentation to Firestone dealers, was an outstanding feature of the meeting.

Another very interesting film showing dealers how to modernize their stores in order to take full advantage of the complete line of home and auto supplies that will soon be carried by Firestone dealers, was also a feature of the conference.

At the conclusion of the conference, a buffet supper was served and dealers took the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with each other and with the visiting officials from the head office.

Supplies of Wheat Show Big Deficit

LONDON, April 3. — (CP) — George H. McIvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board today told the emergency conference on European cereals that the world wheat supply for the period January to June of this year, shows a deficit of 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 tons.

REPRESENTATIVES of 18 nations were present as the conference was opened by Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary. Philip Noel-Baker, British state minister, was elected chairman.

Mr. McIvor, who is chairman of the cereals committee of the combined food board, and who spoke first, said the basic consideration is that the world wheat supply is only about three-fifths of stated requirements.

It had been agreed in North America, he said, that every effort will be made for maximum shipments, conservation of supplies and provision that grain be used for human needs rather than animal feeding.

THE COMMITTEE believed maximum collection of grains, higher extraction in milling and partial liquidation of livestock like hogs and poultry, would be necessary to conserve bread grains. Greater use of substitutes, such as rye, barley, oats would be required.

All possible Argentine and Soviet wheat should be sought.

Four British ministers were present at the opening, Agriculture Minister Thomas Williams and Food Minister Sir Ben Smith, in addition to Mr. Bevin and Mr. Noel-Baker.

Delegates included representatives from Italy, Austria and neutral countries.

THE PURPOSE of the conference, Mr. Bevin said, was to see whether limited food supplies could be made to go around. He hoped delegates wouldn't waste time in "airy statements," and that the conference would lay the foundation for a permanent world nutrition policy.

Mr. Noel-Baker, on election as chairman, said hunger had been the breeding ground of the Nazis.

RCAF Unit Helps Operation Muskox

As the moving force of Operation Muskox moves along over the top of the world south towards its final destination—Edmonton, aircraft of the Royal Canadian Air Force's No. 1 Air Supply Unit are flying over the vast stretches of Northern Canada to carry supplies to the men, and gasoline to keep their snowmobiles running.

IN SIX WEEKS, 150,789 pounds of cargo and 239 passengers were carried by the unit. Most of this work was done by two aircraft captained by Flt.-Lts. L. A. Dodds of Winnipeg, and T. V. Tackaberry of Bentley, Alberta, and navigated by Flt.-Lts. E. T. Paul of Victoria and J. H. Thomas, Vancouver, B.C.

The ground crew, under Warrant Officer J. A. LaFlamme of Ottawa, contributed greatly to the success of this operation by working under very trying conditions to keep the aircraft serviceable.

THIS UNIT, under the command of Wing Cmdr. J. G. Showler of Winnipeg, formed and trained at Gimli, December, 1945, and a month later, their training completed, moved to Churchill to prepare for their task of dropping supplies to the moving party. It had also been decided to set up supply caches along the route to be covered by the snowmobiles, and on the 25th of January, a detachment of the unit, under Sqdn.-Ldr. A. W. Bishop of Ottawa, was sent to Yellowknife to begin the work of building up the caches.

The supplies which were to be flown from Yellowknife came from Edmonton, both by land and air. Those which came by land were taken to Grimshaw by rail and then north again by truck to Lower Bay where they were transferred to tractor trains and hauled across Great Slave Lake to Yellowknife. A lot of the freight was flown to the unit through the co-operation of air traffic officers in North West Air Command and the Edmonton detachment of No. 164 Transport Squadron, commanded by Sqdn.-Ldr. C. C. Underhill of Blackville, New Brunswick.

Home-Building Brisk This Year

Edmonton's building permits for the three months ended March 31 this year totalled $2,337,668, compared with $611,351 for the same period last year, an increase of $1,726,317, according to a report issued Tuesday by Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect.

THE MARCH PERMIT total was $1,379,160 compared with $346,494 for the same month last year, an increase of $1,032,666.

Home building permits issued during the three-month period of 1946 numbered 250, with a permit value of $969,625 compared with 115 for the same period last year when the permit value was $367,093. This is an increase of 135 in the number of home-building permits issued, and of $602,432 in permit value.

A total of 37 permits were issued for the construction of commercial buildings totalling $350,910. In the first three months of last year there were 13 permits issued with a permit value of $62,610.

TWO INSTITUTIONAL building permits were issued in the three months period this year with a permit value of $615,000. No permit was issued under this classification in the 1945 period.

In the 1946 period there were 194 permits for alterations and repairs with a permit value of $311,095 compared with 168 in the first three months of 1945 when the value of the permits was $107,540.

A TOTAL OF 37 permits were issued in the 1946 period to adjust previous permits issued for dwellings. The value of these was $64,468. In the 1945 period 37 were issued, and the value of the permits was $60,493.

Annual Meeting Gets Under Way

Duty of Canadian Papers Outlined By CP President

TORONTO, April 3.—(CP)—Canadian newspapers have a duty to tell clearly and honestly the story of a disorganized world in starting itself to peace, Senator W. A. Buchanan, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald, said in his presidential address to the annual meeting of The Canadian Press here today.

THEY HAD ALSO an opportunity to carry out this vital duty so capably and completely as to reach new heights in the newspaper tradition. Both duty and opportunity were fully realized by the Dominion's newspapers.

"The newspapers of Canada are gathered today to map a new future," he said. "To their task they bring confidence born of success in six years of reporting a world war and a war-matured understanding of problems that come with peace."

WARTIME ORGANIZATION had given the Canadian Press an experience in world reporting that stood it in good stead as it faced the future. But Canada's own story would not be neglected. "The Canadian Press as a news-collecting organization is seeking to make its contribution a very real one at this time of great opportunity for Canadian newspapers—opportunity to be better-written and better-produced than at any time in the past."

Just as in wartime, Canadian newspapers in peace needed both the British and American view and the Canadian Press would continue to draw heavily on the product of the two great international news associations. The Associated Press and Reuters. "Their juxtaposition in the CP news report is an important example of the value of honest picture we consider it our duty to present."

SENATOR BUCHANAN said Canada's small population and a large area has made it difficult to establish a wire system for exchange of news among the different sections but Canadian newspapers over the years had built up in the Canadian Press a news service unexcelled anywhere.

The CP president reviewed the organization's wartime task of reporting fully its fighting share of Canada's men and women in proper relation to the over-all war picture. A CP correspondent had been with the first troops sent overseas and one was still with the last troops in Germany.

SEVEN WAR correspondents had been posted overseas as fighting reached its peak, each instructed never to concentrate on Canadian share. Balance was kept by use of the reports of these correspondents and those of AP and Reuters. It had been done so well that "I make the suggestion that the fairest and most balanced report of this war exists in the files of Canadian daily newspapers."

Empire News was a special field in which had a job to do, "perhaps one might also say a mission. Our task is the development of background stories that will serve to keep the tides of understanding flowing between the sovereign nations and their dependencies that make up this unique group of countries.

"SOMETHING HAS BEEN done through closer relationships with Reuters and the news agencies of both Africa and Australia. A great deal more remains before us. It is the development of the truly broad-headed business point of view as well as the intangible collateral viewpoint of empire understandings."

Fisher Challenges Mayor's Remarks

Denial of statements made by Mayor Harry Ainlay at a meeting of the Alberta Liberal Association, Monday night, to the effect that old age pensions had become a reality in Canada by a government anxious to save its own political life, featured a meeting of the Edmonton Liberal Association, held in the Oddfellow's Hall Tuesday.

THE DENIAL WAS made by E. C. Fisher, regional vice-president of the Alberta Liberal Association, who protested that the King government had been elected in 1926 by a sufficient majority to ensure that it would remain in office for its regular term, so that no effort was necessary on the part of the government to take any steps in that direction.

"Mayor Ainlay is misinformed and should not make that statement," Mr. Fisher said.

He also charged that Mayor Ainlay, who had "wept crocodile tears" over the treatment accorded old age pensioners, was the head of council which recently attempted to slash the city's contribution to the pensioners by the $2.50 which is the city's share of the pension which comes from the Dominion and the provincial governments as well.

"IF THE MAYOR wanted to show his sincerity he would add another $2.50 to the pension instead of trying to take it away," Mr. Fisher continued.

If there is any credit coming to any government in Canada for the pensions, it is all due to the work of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, head of the Liberal government, Mr. Fisher concluded.

Appointment of a public relations officer for each military district in Canada to present the type of work being done for veterans is recommended in a resolution which was endorsed by the meeting. Few people in the country are aware, the preamble to the resolution states, of the fact that Canada's program for rehabilitation of her men is second to none in the world, and political opponents of the federal government magnify the few individual cases where the system seems to fall down.

THE RESOLUTION suggested that a study be made of Canada's program with a view to meeting as many individual cases as possible, recognizing that it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

ESTABLISHMENT OF AN independent civil commission in Alberta, examinations similar to those used by the federal government which will give due regard to war service of applicants, and the advertising of vacancies in the provincial government service form part of another resolution passed by the meeting.

The same resolution suggests that there are still many in the provincial service who are over the age limit and that there are many married women whose husbands are gainfully employed and who still draw pay from the provincial coffers. It suggests that these and all other government employees who were hired on a temporary basis during the war be discharged and the machinery set in motion to fill those vacancies from the ranks of veterans.

A third resolution asking federal aid for veterans who wish to establish themselves in business on their own, on the same basis which loans are extended to those who wish to farm, was tabled for a month after a spirited debate.

Lake Edith Camp Is To Be Reopened

The Lake Edith Vacation Camp at Jasper, an operation of the Edmonton YMCA, will reopen this summer according to a statement by Waldo F. Empey, past-president of the Edmonton YMCA board of directors and chairman of the Lake Edith Camp committee. The camp has not been operated since the summer of 1941.

THE YMCA Lake Edith camp is situated on the shore of Lake Edith, four and one-half miles from the town of Jasper and provides a rustic vacation setting for vacationists.

The camp operational committee is under the chairmanship of "Jeff" Williamson. Mr. Williamson and his committee comprised of Miss Kay Clarke, Miss Hazel Moore, Miss Ursula Forbes, C. J. Ferguson, Cliff Hackett, Gordon McClary, Gordon Christian, Hart Cantelon, Harold Banks, William Skead, Harold Sprague, Ralph Walden and Clark Ready, have been doing considerable planning during recent months in preparation for the seasonal opening of the camp on Friday, June 28.

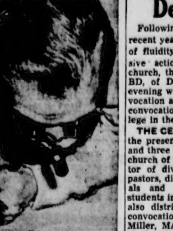

THE LAKE EDITH facilities will cater particularly to young people's groups as well as to family vacationists. Reservations have already been received from British Columbia and the states of Oregon, California and Ohio.

Palestine Committee Leaders Hail Statement By Arab Archbishop

Dr. Carl Hermann Voss and Dean Howard M. LeSourd, co-directors of the American Christian Palestine Committee of New York, today cabled their "deep admiration and gratitude for the courageous statement" made by Monsignor Ignatz Moubar, archbishop of the Maronite church in Beirut, Lebanon, who charged that a sub-committee of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine, which took testimony in Lebanon, did not hear the true voice of Lebanese public opinion.

"YOUR FORTHRIGHT declaration is striking evidence that believers in truth and justice throughout the world are resolved to defeat the cause of a Jewish Palestine, and will not be silenced by the reactionary forces of the Arab League and Colonial imperialism," Dr. Voss and Dean LeSourd said in their cable to Monsignor Moubar.

Monsignor Moubar's views were expressed in an exclusive interview with a Jewish telegraphic agency correspondent, dated March 21. The dispatch quoted Monsignor Moubar as saying that "if the committee had heard the true voice, it would have heard that voice declaring support of Jewish reconstruction in Palestine—support of Zionism as a symbol of progress and security of all peoples in the Middle East."

HE INSISTED THAT the Christian majority in Lebanon is not represented in the present government, and made it clear that his views also represent those of the Greek Catholic, spiritual leader of the Maronite Christian world, "who has often expressed his sympathy with Judaism and Zionism."

"The Anglo-American committee heard only chosen government spokesmen who have said what the government wanted them to say," the archbishop declared. "I charge that our president did not give his true views, because he is fearful of the Arab League. He himself holds views contrary to those he expressed, and I, myself, told him so. The present government would not be able to be in power without my help. I brought Christian support to the President of the Republic, whom I now charge with not having expressed his real feelings before the committee."

SPEAKING OF THE ties between Palestine and his country, Monsignor Moubar said that the development of Lebanon is tied up with the development of Palestine. "We Christian Lebanese know this," he continued. "We realize that Zionism is bringing civilization to Palestine and to the entire Middle East. I am very much in favor of Zionism because I have the good of Palestine at heart. The desire of the Moslem Arabs is to dominate the country and cast out the Christians. I tell you frankly, our position to Zionism in Palestine means returning the people to the domination of savagery, and the return of the country to that state of anarchy and bribery in which it existed at the height of the Ottoman sultans.

"If anyone in this part of the world has sought to unite all communities it is I," he asserted adding "but I am sorry to state that we have found nothing on the part of the Moslems, except fanaticism, hate, and desire to dominate the country. You can be sure that in this country, where Christians represent the majority of the population, the great majority of the Christians are against reactionary Arab nationalism. I tell you frankly, our support of Zionism is the only means of salvation for us. Without it Christians will be the victims of savagery, and the return of the country to that state of anarchy and bribery in which it existed at the height of the Ottoman sultans.

"If anyone in this part of the world has sought to unite all communities it is I," he asserted adding "but I am sorry to state that we have found nothing on the part of the Moslems, except fanaticism, hate, and desire to dominate the country. You can be sure that in this country, where Christians represent the majority of the population, the great majority of the Christians are against reactionary Arab nationalism. I tell you frankly, our support of Zionism is the only means of salvation for us. Without it Christians will be the victims of savagery, and the return of the country to that state of anarchy and bribery in which it existed at the height of the Ottoman sultans.

"WE REALIZE," he continued, "that there is a struggle between civilization and regression and the Jews symbolize civilization. We Christian Lebanese have always been pioneers of civilization, not only in Lebanon but in the entire Middle East."

Warning that the Middle East was witnessing a test case in the march of civilization, he stated: "In the desire of the Jews to rebuild Palestine there burns a very pure flame. We must not extinguish it! The Jews of Palestine and the Christians of Palestine can work together, and if the Moslem Arabs would assist, it would be magnificient, but, unfortunately, they are opposed to anything which means progress. I was in Palestine 30 years ago. It was an arid, forgotten land. I've seen it since—I tell you, we are thankful to Jews of the good fate of Palestine."

HE POINTED OUT that the Moslem Arabs of Palestine, Damascus and Beirut sold their land holdings in Palestine to Jews for high prices, and now the Moslem Arabs here want to drive those lands and cast out the Jews.

"These are my views," Monsignor Moubar concluded, "and I am not afraid to say them. Last night I was invited to a dinner tendered by the foreign ministry to members of the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee and I refused to attend lest my presence give the impression that I agreed with the opinions expressed before the committee."

At the conclusion of his interview with the JTA correspondent, the archbishop signed a statement embracing the essence of his remarks, adding "I propose to speak on this subject in the same way from the pulpit, this coming week-end."

"Aggressive Action" by Churches Declared Need of Post-War World

Following the global shakeup of recent years, the world is in a state of fluidity which calls for aggressive action on the part of the church, the Rev. H. Hoss, MA, BD, of Drumheller, said Tuesday evening when he delivered the convocation address at the 36th annual convocation of St. Stephen's College in the college auditorium.

THE CEREMONY was marked by the presentation to Lethbridge and three city pastors of the United church of honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity, and to two other pastors, diplomas in theology. Medals and prizes to high-standing students in the various classes were also distributed. Chairman of the convocation was the Rev. Dr. A. D. Miller, MA, BD, DD, college principal, who will retire shortly to take up residence at Toronto.

In his address, Mr. Moss asked "when was there a time more fraught with apprehension and failure?" He added: "when was there a time more fraught with possibilities for the church?"

"There are opportunities today for those of us in the church to put the stamp of God on human life," the minister declared. Congratulating those students receiving degrees and prizes, he advised them to be open to correction, to remember the fatality of thinking themselves too big for any job the church might offer, and the necessity of keeping various phases of the ministry in their proper balance.

"TWENTY YEARS from now I expect you will be learning how to be a better job," he concluded. "Most of us are learning all our lives."

The convocation ceremony was opened when the packed congregation sang the hymn "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne," followed by a period of responsive reading. Prayer was led by the convocation chaplain, Sqdn.-Ldr. the Rev. Wesley Balmbridge.

Report of the principal was given by Dr. Miller. He said the total number of students given theological instruction this term was 70, and expressed the hope that with the release of men from the armed forces, a greater enrolment would be recorded in the ensuing year.

Report of the Senate was given by Prof. E. J. Thompson, MA, BD, PhD, assisted by the Rev. E. H. Birdsall, MA, BD, chairman of the Edmonton presbytery of the United church. Awards were presented by the chairman of the board of management of St. Stephen's College, the Rev. D. C. Ramsey, MA.

DR. MILLER presented college testamurs to John Arthur Boorman, MA, and Albert Edwin Loree BA. The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred by Dr. Miller on the Rev. Robert Magowan, BA, of Lethbridge, past president of the Alberta conference; the Rev. Mr. Ramsey, minister of Garneau United church, who was graduated in Arts at Queen's University 40 years ago and has served 32 years of his ministry in Alberta; the Rev. John Thomas Stephens, superintendent of All People's Mission, who came to Western Canada in 1905 as a recruit for the Methodist ministry and many years among Anglo Saxon communities on the prairies; and the Rev. William Thomas Young, minister of Norwood United church, who last year completed 40 years in the ministry in the province.

Greetings were extended the convocation by the Rev. J. M. Fawcett, DD, on behalf of the Alberta Conference, and by Prof. John Macdonald, MA, D.Litt, on behalf of the University of Alberta.

ADDRESS FROM the board of management to Dr. Miller, voicing appreciation of his service to the college since 1909, was given by Mr. Fawcett and was followed by the presentation to the principal of an illuminated address and a cheque. Dr. Miller responded briefly to references of early days in St. Stephen's College and the university.

Convocation music was provided by Roy S. Collins. The ceremony was followed by refreshments and a social gathering.

FOLLOWING ARE THE awards and scholarships which were presented: James M. Harrison gold medal for standing in the theology course, to John Arthur Boorman, MA; St. Stephen's Old Boys' Prize for high standing in the course of the first year theology, to Albert E. Loree, BA; Eastern Theological Colleges Alumni in Alberta prize for second class standing in first year theology, $15, to Russel G. Beairsto, B.Ed; George R. Holbrook Book Gift to members of the graduating class, Mr. Boorman and Mr. Loree; George R. Holbrook scholarship for first class standing in first year theology, Eldred G. Miller, BA.

Annie Harrison Prize for highest standing in Work of the the Pastor," $25, to Mr. Miller; John M. Millar Memorial Travelling Scholarship, $600, to Mr. Boorman. Leonard Gaetz Scholarship for high standing in the Arts course for the year 1944-45 was awarded to Mr. David John Hawley Barnicoat on the basis of examination results at the university.

Classes From Several Schools Carry on Festival Program

The Edmonton public schools continued their city wide program of non-competitive festivals in the Garneau, Ritchie, King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Rutherford and Bennett taking part. The program consisted of music, choral speech, dramatics and rhythmical activities.

IN THE AFTERNOON a similar program was presented in the Memorial Hall by the junior grades of Queen's Avenue, Alex Taylor, McDougall and Forest Heights elementary schools.

During the morning session choruses were given by Grades one and two from Bennett, directed by Miss Rudolph; grade two, Rutherford, Miss A. J. Robinson; grade two and three Bennett, Miss M .E. Willitis; grade three Ritchie, Miss S. Brushett. The King Edward offering was a combination of Grade two classes, directed by Miss M. Campbell.

The rhythmical activities were presented by Grades one and two classes from Rutherford under the direction of Miss N. Neelands and Miss A. J. Robinson.

AN OPERETTA, "Belling the Cat," was presented by Grade two class from Queen Alexandra, under the direction of Miss V. Tuba. "The Little Red Hen" was rendered in choral speech by a Grade two class from Garneau guided by Miss A. Brown. Dramatizations were also presented by Grade three classes from Garneau and King Edward, directed by Miss M. Tyner and Miss W. Hughes respectively.

The chairman of the morning session was the Rev. E. G. Turnbull.

THE AFTERNOON program arranged by Miss J. Nichol of Mc-Dougall and in succession to John Pollock, who retired from the post after many years of service.

The program opened with a story play by Grades one and two pupils of Queen's Avenue school, directed by Miss E. L. Hay.

This was followed by a continual round of musical, choral and physical education numbers directed by the following teachers: Miss E. Wild, Miss A. Smith, Miss A. Scheler, Miss H. Walker, Miss J. Nichol, Mrs. G. Breadon, Miss Peterson and Miss D. Bramley-Moore.

THE PROGRAM was concluded by a presentation of massed singing by a Grade three chorus from Queen's Avenue, conducted by Miss Helen Bell. Following the festival, teachers were given an adjudication of the choral speech numbers by Mrs. F. Wootton.

Traffic Banned On Some Roads

Truck and bus traffic is banned on many of the province's main highways this week, according to an announcement by the highway traffic board. Included in the list of roads on which a ban is placed from midnight Sunday is the Calgary-Edmonton highway, which prohibition became effective at 7:00 a.m. Wednesday.

BANS WERE LIFTED on Monday morning on the Edmonton-Namao road, the Beleker-Hanna road and all roads in the municipal district of Painteath.

The board announces that the following main highways will be closed, effective 7 a.m. Monday, April 1:

Highway No. 13, Wetaskiwin to Hardisty, Highway No. 14, Edmonton to Holden, Highway No. 16, Edmonton to Jasper Park boundary, Highway No. 18, Barrhead to Clyde, Highway from Carvel Corner to Cherhill, Highway from Killam to Galahad. All municipal and local roads in MD of Sturgeon, No. 90. All municipal and local roads in MD of Strathcona, No 83.

No. 101; all district roads in I.D. No. 102.

Oil seeping from the ground was used by the Indians as salve and medicine.

Murder Charge

Mrs. Evelyn Dick of Hamilton, Ont., has been charged with the murder of John Dick, her husband. The body of the 30-year-old street car motorman was found with the arms, legs and head cut off, on a lonely ravine in Hamilton mountain. It is alleged the crime was committed on or about March 6. The body of a new-born child enclosed in cement in a grip was found in Mrs. Dick's home.

Can't Find Takers Part-Time Work

Odd Jobs and part time work goes begging for takers if the experience of the school board is any criterion. This applies particularly in the case where schools are kept open on Sundays for religious purposes, it was stated at Tuesday's school board meeting.

CARETAKERS ARE not enthusiastic about working a full seven day week and for the few hours required for Sunday services it was said to be next to impossible to obtain relief help.

"People just do not want intermittent or temporary employment," stated J. M. McAfee, superintendent of plant, "they want steady work."

Civic Employees Elect President

Const. Fred Sloane, city police department, was elected president of the Edmonton Civic Employees' Federation, at a meeting held Monday in the Civic Block. He succeeds C. E. Brown. W. R. Engley, street railway department, was named vice-president, succeeding F. G. Mitchell, and Jack Staton, fire department, secretary - treasurer, in succession to John Pollock, who retired from the post after many years of service.

CP General Manager Reports:

Other Nations Show Great Interest in Canadian News

TORONTO, April 3.—(CP)—News of Canada in Canadian newspapers increased three times over in six post-war months and other nations show a similarly heightened interest in the Dominion's news, Gillis Purcell, general manager, said today in his report to the annual meeting of The Canadian Press, national news-gathering co-operative.

"AFTER A YEAR of news without parallel in history," Mr. Purcell said, "The Canadian Press tackles an assignment for tomorrow limitless in its problems and possibilities. Canada is on the world's front pages, a young and promising nation with a story to tell to each of the other nations. The story has a special significance. The telling is CP's job.

An unprecedented element of analysis marked the attention focussed on Canada from abroad and at home, posing a new problem in news-writing but holding out unending possibilities for more readable news material. "It no longer suffices to relate what occurs. The method of the happenings and its reason are part of the story."

DELIVERY TO CP'S 90 daily newspaper members of this superior type of news report required efficient, flexible transmission and trained staff of qualified news-writers. "Newly-installed equipment has improved transmission vastly and better circuit techniques promise further advances. Within a year, the war-weakened staff will be better than ever in the past."

Mr. Purcell said the "world story will continue to be told to Canadian newspapers by The Associated Press and Reuters, whose reports are the foundation of the CP service and whose co-operation is as whole-hearted as it is invaluable."

THE CP GENERAL manager reported an almost complete transformation in personnel of the London staff, which now "is peculiarly qualified to report the complex and shifting situation in the United Kingdom and Europe." Increased interest in empire news was reflected in a steady exchange of interpretative stories with Britain and other Dominions

Reporting the end of Canadian censorship on VJ-Day, Mr. Purcell said the most striking fact was that, despite censorship through the war, there was so little material for now-it-can-be-told stories. Most of the war's secrets already had been released after security delays of varying durations.

Road Ahead

the soil, and look after civilian needs and produce the goods and food necessary to feed and equip the armed forces.

In their own way those who produced and worked at home contributed as much to final victory as the men who carried the rifles, or fired the guns. Victory was not the result of any individual effort, but of the complete teamwork we were able to achieve. Don't let a "zombie" or "slacker" complex spoil your chance of future happiness. The sooner we forget those words the better for all of us.

IT IS TRUE that many of those who stayed home could have gone if they had volunteered early enough or tried hard enough to join up. But all those of us who went overseas, or practically all, went of our own free wills, after we had made our own personal decisions. Before you condemn the man who stayed home, it would be well to ask yourself what influenced his decision. Was it the pressure of his family? Of his wife? Of his responsibilities to others? And ask yourself whether, had you been faced with the same problem he was faced with, how would you have acted? Would you have still gone?

Actually he is mighty proud of you. If he doesn't say so there are many reasons. Perhaps he is afraid you may be a threat to his security in his job—and he has his responsibilities too. Often he is afraid you will despise him because he didn't go. After all, you don't know all the facts.

SO HE "DOESN'T talk your language." How could he? He hasn't been where you were or seen all that you have seen. It is going to be easier for you to talk his language than it will be for him to learn to talk yours. You are a civilian now. The onus is on you to learn to talk his language. The sooner you learn his language and forget your own, the happier you will be and the better you will get along. You are going to be a civilian for the rest of your life. If you can't talk a civilian's language you had best start learning it at once.

Naturally your first friends will be men who were your friends in the service. But don't let it stop at descending. Treat those you meet the way you would expect to be treated yourself — naturally and with friendliness.

WHEN YOU GO to work don't spend your time looking around at the fellows who seem to have "done alright by themselves by staying home." Just concentrate on making the most of your own opportunities. Don't grouse. Don't wisecrack. Don't make comparisons. Don't look for favors or ask for special privileges. Try to act as though you had never been away. Don't keep reminding people how much you gave up, or the sacrifices you made for freedom. The others will tell you about it, if you give them a chance. It sounds better that way. And it will make you feel better.

So you're a civilian again. That's right, and you are going to be one for years and years and years. Don't ever forget it. After all, the shooting is over, and you've turned in your rifle. Be as good a civilian as you were a serviceman and Canada will always be proud of you.
